Nation Strike-Plagued

By The Associated Press

A huge segment of the U.S. economy — from the mass communications media to agriculture, the transportation industry and some city employes — finds itself embroiled today in labor disputes.

While the walkout continues against the four broadcasting networks and the National Farmers Organization pursues its milk holding action, strike threats loomed in the railroad and trucking industries and the New York City newspaper world.

But New York City's firemen joined city policemen Thursday night in postponing indefinitely a work slowdown scheduled for today. However Philadelphia city employes picketed municipal buildings Thursday, seeking action on a pension plan.

Both a National Broadcasting Co. official and a spokesman for the striking American Federation of Television and Radio Artists predicted the three-day-old walkout could last more than a week. Besides NBC, AFTRA has struck the American Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System and the Mutual Broadcasting Sytem.

Supervisory personnel continue to substitute for striking broadcasts and announcers, although most of the live or videotaped programs have been knocked off the air in the dispute over wages and fees.

Representatves of both sides meet Saturday in Washington with a federal mediator.

Theodore W. Kheel, chief negotiator in the newspaper talks, reported today that progress has been made in Thursday night's discussions and said "there will obviously not be any strike (today) but the situation is still not settled." Negotiations resume tonight.

The five New York City dailies are the News, the Times, the World Journal Tribune, the Long Island Star-Journal and the Long Island Press.

In Washington, six shopcraft unions resume talks today with negotiators for 138 railroads in the face of an April 12 strike deadline. The unions — machinists, carmen, electricians, boilermarkers, sheet metal workers, firemen and oilers — reportedly are demanding a 7 per cent wage hike, compared with the 5 per cent increase recommended by a presidential emergency board.

Another union, the Order of Railroad Conductors and Brakemen — threatened Thursday a walkout against 60 to 70 carriers if its contract demands are not met by 12:01 a.m. Saturday. The dispute involves health and welfare benefits which the union claims the carriers plan to cancel.

James E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the carriers in Washington, denied the railroads plan to withdraw the union's benefit plan and expressed confidence the courts will block a strike.

The Teamsters Union prepared today to take a nationwide strike vote this weekend after rejecting a reported three-year, 37-cent wage offer from trucking industry negotiators representing some 12,000 carriers. The vote will postpone until at least Monday a strike threatened at the expiration of the union's contract at midnight tonight.

Rail Tieup

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa AP — A nationwide railroad strike is set for 12:01 a. m. local time Saturday. The head of the Order of Railroad Conductors and Brakemen — ORCB — declared today.

President Clyde F. Lane denied reports that the walkout of some 18,500 union members had been called off.

The strike would tie up about 65 per cent of the country's railroads. Rail officials have threatened a court action to halt the walkout.

Bill Returned To Committee; Out In April

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney's income tax bill was back in Senate committee today, defeated by a lack of Republican votes but still alive and likely to return to the floor next month.

Six of Romney's fellow Republicans combined with 17 Democrats Thursday to defeat the tax bill in a 23-14 roll call vote.

Democrats and Republicans then joined forces, approving motions by majority leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, to reconsider the bill and send it and the rest of Romney's fiscal reform package back to the taxation committee for further consideration.

Romney reacted with a statement that the vote "simply serves as an impetus for the effort necessary to achieve sound tax and budget action in this legislative session."

He said he would "continue to work to this end with members of the Legislature, Republicans and Democrats."

Lost A Skirmish

"We have lost a skirmish," Romney said. "But the battle for tax reform and the fiscal integrity of Michigan is far from over."

Romney, considered a top contender for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, has promised a 15 per cent cutback in state services if the Legislature fails to come up with a tax reform program to meet state spending.

How his program fares and how he handles the situation if it should fail could have a major effect on his White House chances.

That the bill, levying a 2½ per cent personal income tax, 5 per cent corporate tax and 8 per cent tax on financial institutions, would fail to pass and be returned to committee was a foregone conclusion.

But just how the 20 majority Republicans would cast their ballots was a matter for speculation until the final vote.

The bill needed 20 votes to pass.

Hearing that the bill's GOP opponents were attempting to talk other Republicans into voting against the measure, Lockwood called a last-minute caucus to attempt to regain any lost support.

Without a strong Republican vote in favor of the tax, the GOP position would be weakened in later committee bargaining with Democrats.

Six Republican No's

"There (the opponents') reasoning was 'Why should you vote for it when it isn't going to pass anyway?' " Lockwood said.

Fourteen Republicans voted for the bill. Joining Democrats in voting "no" were GOP Sens. Robert Huber and George Kuhn, both of Birmingham; Harold Hungerford of Lansing, L. Harvey Lodge of Waterford, Harold Volkema of Holland and Charles Zollar of Benton Harbor.

The only senator not voting was Jerome Hart, D-Saginaw, who has been ill for several days.

Taxation Committee Chairman Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek, told the senators "I'm sure fiscal reform will ride again," he added, "and I'm sure that after

Jets Blow Out Furnaces For Red Steel Mill

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force jet pilots led by a World War II ace blew out the vital blast furnaces of North Vietnam's showpiece Thai Nguyen steel plant 57 miles north of Hanoi Thursday, the U.S. Command announced.

Col. Robin Olds of Washington, D.C., who downed 24 enemy planes in World War II and a MIG21 in the biggest air battle of the Vietnam war, led the strike of Phantom jets which came in low and "walked their bombs across the target," a spokesman said.

It was the seventh strike against the steel plant since it was put on the target list three weeks ago. Bad weather has hampered all the strikes, and the Air Force enthusiastically hailed the latest for "destroying the blast furnaces."

Olds, 44, husband of former movie star Ella Raines, reported that Thai Nguyen was "engulfed in smoke and dust" from his flight's thousand-pound bombs.

But the U.S. Command also had some bad news to report, announcing that a U.S. Marine jet pilot fired rockets by mistake into his own ground troops Thursday, killing four Marines and wounding 18 more.

The headquarters said the Marine F8 Crusader was supporting a Marine unit in an operation 25 miles southeast of coastal Quang Ngai City and its rockets landed short of the target.

Sharp but small-scale and scattered ground fighting was reported in the war in the south, with 14 other Americans reported killed and 49 wounded Thursday. The same actions cost the Communists 88 known dead.

The U.S. spokesman said a battalion of U.S. infantrymen in Junction City ran into a Communist force of unknown size today and fighting was continuing at last report. The Saigon headquarters had no details.

Hunt Clues To Cause Of Crash In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The recovery of a Delta jetliner's flight and voice recorders may provide clues to the cause of the crash that killed 18 persons.

The recorders were found at the scene of the crash Thursday and sent to Washington for examination.

Civil Aeronautics Board investigators continued probing today through bits of the airliner that crashed into a motel filled with school children.

Both recorders showed fire damage, but a CAB spokesman said they appeared to be in good shape.

A flight recorder transcribes such things as altitude, rate of speed, ascent, descent and direction. A voice recorder records all conversations in the cockpit.

Five pilots and an inspector for the Federal Aviation Agency died aboard the four-engine Delta Air Lines jet as it cartwheeled flaming into the Hilton Inn motel. Twelve persons perished in the path of the plane.

Nine high school girls from the Wisconsin farming hamlets of Juda and Monroe and a maintenance man died in the motel.

"The plane sounded like the pilot was revved for a landing," recalled Bruce Stephens, 17, one of 60 pupils from Olympia Fields, Ill., who came to New Orleans for their annual spring tour and were staying at the motel.

The nine doomed girls on a senior class outing had just begun preparing for bed when the plane crashed and — in the words of a police captain — "spouted a sea of fuel right into those rooms where those kids were staying."

Eight of the girls died in the bath stalls of their rooms. The ninth teenager was knocked from the building.

It was five hours before flames died down enough to allow firemen into the rooms.

The unhurt students and most of the other guests at the motel fled from their rooms when the jet struck at 1 a.m. At least 11 were injured.

Paint Splatters Humphrey Suit

ROME (AP) — Italian police maintained a tighter guard around U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today after opponents of the Vietnam war threw yellow paint at him.

The plastic container of paint missed Humphrey as he entered the Rome Opera House Thursday night for a performance of Verdi's "Ernani." Only a few drops stained his dark suit, but considerably more splattered his host, Angelo Carlucci, director of the opera.

Humphrey didn't appear bothered. He got a warm ovation when he entered his box and was in his usual cordial mood during the intermission buffet.

Police arrested eight persons, including an Italian Communist youth worker, Gianni Bazzan, who they said threw the paint, and a bearded American tourist, David Blum, 32, of Los Angeles and New York, who they said shouted "Stop bombing Hanoi!" as Bazzan threw the paint.

As Humphrey arrived for the opera, demonstrators also scattered tiny leaflets with the words, "Peace and liberty for Vietnam" in Italian on them. While he was inside, an improvised smoke bomb was thrown from a passing car, and a big North Vietnamese flag was hoisted on a flagpole near the Colosseum.

C. C. Diggs III Held For Illegal Drug Possession

LEE, Mass. (AP)—Charles C. Diggs III, 18, son of U.S. Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr., D-Mich., was ordered held under $2,000 bond Thursday following his arraignment on a charge of illegal possession of marijuana.

Massachusetts State Police said Diggs and a 15-year-old boy were stopped for a traffic violation. The marijuana was found in young Diggs' possession, police said. The youth was suspended recently from Windsor Mountain Preparatory School at Lenox, Mass.

Thant Urges Schools To Resist Pressures

ANN ARBOR (AP)—U.N. Secretary-General U Thant warned today that "undue influence and pressures from the outside" could undermine the intellectual freedom and prestige of universities.

He said such pressure must be resisted.

The secretary - general also urged institutions of higher learning to take the lead in turning men's thoughts from "outmoded political and military confrontations" to coexistence and cooperation.

Thant's speech was prepared for delivery at the University of Michigan which awarded him an honorary doctorate of laws.

A private breakfast before the speech was set up between Thant, Gov. George Romney and U-M President Harlan Hatcher.

Thant did not spell out what he meant by pressures, but he said "An institution of higher education should be free from political domination in any form, either overt or covert."

No Political Domination

"Its intellectual status and academic prestige, as well as its standard of teaching, may well depend upon its freedom from such pressures. Its role as the servant and mentor of society should never be allowed to degenerate into any kind of junior partnership with government."

Thant, a former educator, declared that one of the urgent problems facing universities is to inspire fresh thinking on national and international problems. Everyone and especially the young, he said, should be involved in consideration of political and social beliefs in the world today.

"If they are not involved," he added, "the effort to produce a sane and civilized international order will lack the support it must have if we are ever to have a safer and better world."

Thant noted the trend toward harmonizing religious beliefs and asked:

"Is it too much to hope that the political ideologies, which still claim to divide the world into hostile camps, will also in time come to a similar synthesis where their commonly held objectives and ideals prove to be more important and stronger than their differences?"

See Beyond Rivalries

"It seems to me," he said, "that education should try to make it possible for people to see beyond the propaganda and mutual accusations of rival political ideologies to the fundamental values and ideals upon which the conflicting ideologies can be brought together."

One task of education, he declared, is to deal with the "freakish human tendency" which drives man toward conflict and even mutual extermination.

"The deepest and most sacred instincts must be evoked," he said, "the instincts that bid us live and love and aid one another."

One purpose of the grant will be to test laws now existing in regard to these problems in the slums. The association will represent slum community groups.

Mead Announces Essay Winners

Dennis Bittner, Christine Barron and Robert Swenson have won first place awards in the 1967 Science Essay Contest sponsored by Mead Corp. for Delta County high school students.

The winning students received $25 cash awards, and have a chance to win an additional $100 and possibly a $1,000 scholarship to be given by Mead. Their winning essays in biology, chemistry and physics will compete with the winners of similar Mead essay contests in 11 other cities.

Winners of the local contest were announced at a banquet honoring the students, their parents and their high school science advisors Thursday night at the House of Ludington.

First place for an essay in chemistry went to Dennis Bittner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bartley Bittner of Rte. 1, Gladstone. Dennis, a senior at Holy Name High School, won with his essay on "Comparison of Organic and Chemical Fertilizers." Brother Alphonsus is Dennis' science advisor.

Christine Barron won the top local award in the biology category for her essay on "The Fascinating Story of Honeybees." An Escanaba Area High School senior, Christine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Barron of 912 S. 16th St. Her science advisor at Escanaba Area High School is George Frantz.

Advisors Share Awards

An essay on "Lasers" by Escanaba Area High School senior Robert Swenson won first place in the physics class. Robert is the son of Mrs. Gladys Swenson of 1916 1st Ave. S. Robert's high school science advisor is Robert Slade.

High school advisors of the three first place winners also received $25 awards.

Second place winners receiving $15 each were Robert Mosenfelder, Escanaba Area High School junior, chemistry; Gayle Cook, Escanaba Area High School junior, biology; and Donald Nyquist, Escanaba Area High School senior, physics. Their science advisors were Robert Slade and G. D. McNamee.

Awards of $10 each went to third place winners George Rusch, Holy Name High School senior, chemistry; Susan LeMire, Holy Name High School sophomore, biology; and Donald Plouff, Holy Name High School senior, physics. Their respective science advisors were Brother Alphonsus and Sister Mary Agnese.

Judges in the local contest were Ralph Sogard, George Eastin, and John Grettum.

David J. Schweitzer, Marketing Representative, and Richard A. Puglisi, Systems Engineer, both members of I.B.M., presented a program, "Computers in Business and Industry Today," at the banquet.

Mead's Escanaba Division Manager, G. S. Douglas, said his company sponsored the contest to develop greater interest in science as a career, by offering incentive for interested students. Douglas said, "Tomorrow's needs for scientific personnel in industry, in education and in government research will be far greater than the staggering needs of today. We hope our Science Essay Contest will encourage promising young people, such as these here tonight, to further their studies in this direction."

Essays of the first place winners in Delta County will be entered in competition with first place essays from other Mead locations and top winners in biology, chemistry and physics will be selected. The winners will be special guests of honor and will receive $100 awards at a banquet on May 19 in Chillicothe, Ohio, location of Mead's largest papermaking facilities and the company's Research Center.

One of the three will be judged best overall essay and the winner will receive a $1,000 scholarship grant to the school of his choice in addition to his other winnings.

Northern Natural Asks U.P. Pipeline

Another important procedural step in the case before the Federal Power Commission involving the transporation of large volumes of western Canadian gas through the United States to serve the fast-growing eastern Canada markets was achieved this week with the filing of briefs by all interested parties.

The FPC has set April 8 for the filing of answering briefs and April 21 for oral argument before the Commission in Washington, D.C.

Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, seeks authority to transport, through a wholly-owned subsidiary, 677 million cubic feet of natural gas daily by an "exchange-displacement" concept. Northern proposes to import western Canadian gas from Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, Ltd. of Calgary, Alberta, at a point on the Manitoba-Minnesota border and to utilize this gas for existing customers of Northern in Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

In exchange for these imports, Northern would deliver equal amounts of United States gas to Trans-Canada at Sarnia, Ontario.

The other competing plan is one in which Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co. is seeking authority to build a 1,000-mile pipeline across north central United States to transport the same amount of western Canadian gas for Trans-Canada Pipe Lines to use in the eastern Canadian markets. Trans-Canada and American Natural Gas Co. of Detroit (parent firm of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. serving the Upper Peninsula) each own a 50 per cent interest in Great Lakes.

Both the Great Lakes and Northern Natural proposals would provide identical service to the same markets in Canada and the United States.

In its legal brief filed Wednesday, Northern Natural contends its plan to exchange American gas for Canadian gas would provide substantial savings to its present customers as well as eastern Canadian consumers through the utilization of existing pipeline systems.

A joint brief also filed Wednesday with the Federal Power Commission on behalf of 14 intervenors — including the City of Minneapolis, the Iowa State Commerce Commission, the State of Nebraska, Minneapolis Gas Co., Northern States Power Co., and nine other utilities — supported the Northern Natural plan.

Gas Substitution

The brief of the 14 intervenors stated, "An analysis of the record discloses that the exchange-displacement of gas with the utilization and coordination of existing pipeline facilities and operations will provide substantial benefits to gas consumers in Northern's market area in the Midwest. On the other hand, the Great Lakes proposal does not provide any significant benefits for United States consumers."

The hearings in the complex case opened before the Federal Power Commission in April of 1966, and direct testimony was completed in June. In January of this year the case was ordered by the FPC examiner to be reopened to allow further evidence, including an alternate plan recommended by the Federal Power Commission staff which basically called for more utilization of existing pipelines in the Upper Midwest to transport the gas to eastern Canada.

In early March, Northern filed with the FPC a compromise offer. This new plan more closely resembles the proposal suggested by the FPC staff advocating greater use of United States facilities to cut capital costs.

Build Own Line

Under Northern's offer of settlement which is based on the exchange-displacement concept, Trans-Canada would build and own a 285-mile, 30-inch line from Emerson, Manitoba to Sandstone, Minnesota. Northern would build a 289-mile, 36-inch line from Ogden, Iowa to a point in Illinois to connect with the existing system of Michigan-Wisconsin Pipeline Co. Michigan-Wisconsin in turn would build a 218-mile section of 36-inch line from Niles, Michigan to Sarnia, Ontario.

Additionally, Northern proposes to construct a 118-mile, 12-inch line from its existing system at Marquette, Mich., to Sault Ste. Marie.

The plan also calls for an existing line that extends from Emerson, Manitoba to Marshfield, Wis., owned by Midwestern Gas Transmission Co., of Houston, to be utilized to move additional volumes of western Canadian gas.

Northern indicates that the compromise proposal would cost all participants in both the United States and Canada nearly $386 million, which is some $51 million less than the proposal of Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co.

Northern further contends that the compromise plan offers annual cost of service savings of some $4 million to Canadian consumers and some $3 million to U.S. consumers on its system.

Opposition

Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., a sister firm of Michigan-Wisconsin pipeline Co., in the American Natural Gas Co., has opposed the Northern Natural plan in the FPC hearings.

It's position is that:

1. The Canadian Government will not approve substitution of American gas for Canadian gas as proposed by Northern Natural for its pipeline project because this would make Canada dependent upon American gas supplies.

2. The Northern Natural plan delays action on a pipeline from Western Canada to Eastern Canada. It is going to run north of Lake Superior on an all-canada route if there's not a quick FPC decision on a United States route, because the Canadian Government has demanded that Eastern Canada be served by the line by year's end.

The Great Lakes Co. plan would provide a pipeline through the U.P. that would bring gas to Manistique, St. Ignace, and Sault Ste. Marie. FPC holds the decision as much by timely action as by its eventual ruling, because of the Canadian deadline.

Tech Receives Defense Grant

Michigan Technological University at Houghton will receive a $49,344 reimbursement for conducting a state-wide Civil Defense education program for adults, Sen. Philip A. Hart reported today.

The program is reported to provide adults with a basic understanding of the threats of the nuclear age and of the means for protection against those dangers. The program is to end Dec. 31, this year.

Camp Fire Girl Candy Sale Begins Tuesday

Local Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds will begin ringing doorbells Tuesday, April 4 to sell candy. Proceeds from the candy sale go toward the cost of the summer camping program for the girls.

The Camp Fire girl camp is located at Clear Lake, near Shingleton. The girls call it 'Camp Wikweia', which is pronounced 'Wick'way-a.' If you are not contacted and would like to buy candy, call Mrs. Harvey Gasman, 786-2053.

As a local service project this year, "Legend of Patch the Pony' will be presented through the children in the grade schools.

The Camp Fire program was begun in 1910 by Dr. and Mrs. Luther Halsey Gulick and a group of educators. Dr. Gulick was the founder of the National Playground Association (Now the National Recreation Association) and the owned-director of one of country's first camps for girls and boys.

The Law of the Camp Fire Girls epitomizes the aims of the program. It reminds each girl to worship God, seek beauty, give service, purse knowledge, be trustworthy, hold on to health, glorify work, and be happy.

Offer TV Cable System For Sale

American Cablevision system for the Escanaba area is one of 21 community television-antenna systems in 14 states proposed to be sold by Jack Kent Cooke, Los Angeles.

The systems for sale are those serving smaller cities, Cooke said. "I expect they will go for about $35 million," he told the Associated Press.

It is the intention of American Cablevision to concentrate on metropolitan markets.

Jack D. Bradshaw, 1422 14th Ave. S., the local manager for American Cablevision, said that a sale of such magnitude may take a year or more to complete and that no change in ownership is imminent.

"Certainly there will be no change in our personnel and we are continuing our program of upgrading service to our customers," Bradshaw said.

American Cablevision purchased the system about a year ago.

The Associated Press reported Cooke as saying that he seeks to specialize American Cablevision in larger communities, and that this will give him more time for both CATV and his growing sports division. Cooke is developing a sports arena at Inglewood, Los Angeles suburb.

Cooke owns the Los Angeles Lakers National Basketball Association team and has franchises in Los Angeles for a new soccer team and an expansion of a hockey league.

Peninsula Has Huge Program Of Education

Representatives of the universities and colleges serving the Upper Peninsula met in Escanaba Thursday in unprecedented assembly that gave the public a view of the huge size of the program community services by higher education in the area.

The Upper Peninsula Field Services Committee, meeting at the Chamber of Commerce, agreed to invite all of the institutions of higher learning serving the U. P. to attend all of its future meetings. The committee has been composed of representatives of the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Northern Michigan University and Michigan Technological University.

It has been operating for about 5 years and Ralph Noble, Tech's director of continuing education, is its current chairman.

The Committee had been asked by the UPCAP delegate body to make a recommendation on Lake Superior State College's request that it be given a delegate seat in UPCAP and it so recommended. U-M, MSU, Northern and Tech have delegate status, the first two non-voting at their request.

Northern's Dr. Claud Bosworth, vice president-public services, led off with a report on public services that was an eye-opener on the scope of university programs in the training of adults, the instruction of out-of-school young people in job skills, the development of community projects and many other activities once considered outside the academic limits of a university. The university is allied with the federal and state governments in many of these activities.

In its training program, Northern teaches job skills at a cost of $1,000 per person that the government gets back in increased earning capacity and taxpaying in 2½ to 3 years. Bosworth said that even where the trainee is paid a subsidy that includes family subsistence that runs to $2,500 for six months to a year of training, it is recovered by government in 5 to 7 years. This is the bright alternative, he said, in making people employable who might otherwise land on the welfare rolls and eventually cost the government $80,000 for a lifetime of support.

Northern's training is now resulting in 58 per cent of trainees finding jobs in the U. P., compared with 30 per cent when the program started.

The university's public service role encompasses the only Women's Job Corps Center on a U. S. campus (extended for two more years), community services including school development, job training, health education, management development, small business consultation, law enforcement training, banking, practical nursing, etc.

President Richard Rinehart of Bay de Noc Community College said that the community's post high school vocational education needs should look first to the community college for fulfillment and then elsewhere. He cited Governor Romney's blue ribbon committee on education finding that community colleges would probably have to provide dormitory residence for students if they are to serve the public need for their services in areas larger than their legal service districts.

The college's training and cultural contributions to the community outside of its student body was cited by Rinehart. The college helped establish the only private book store in the U. P. in Escanaba, he said, by staying out of the book business.

Dean Lon Weber of the University of Wisconsin Marinette Center said that its community services had been aided by a $10,000 gift from Ansul Chemical Co. to bring outstanding leaders and artists to the city for public lectures on Sunday evenings.

Heirman, board chairman, Bay de Noc Community College; President Richard Rinehart, Bay de Noc; Bill Schmidtke, University of Wisconsin Marinette center student affairs director; Dean Jacob Solin, Gogebic Community College; Dean Lon Weber, U.W Marinette Center; Douglas Rappley, Michigan Tech; standing, James Gooch, Michigan State University director of continuing education in the U. Erlandsen Is Named To Group Helping Caucus

House Democratic Leader William A. Ryan announced today the appointment of Einar Erlandsen of Escanaba to the Legislative Information Committee (LINC). Erlandsen served as the representative in the 73rd Legislature (1965-66) from the 107th District which includes the counties of Chippewa Delta, Luce and Schoolcraft and the cities of Sault Ste. Marie, Escanaba, Gladstone, Newberry and Manistique.

The new committee will serve as an advisory council to the Democratic caucus of the Michigan House of Representatives.

Erlandsen served as a member of the Committee on Ways and Means and his experience will be of great value to our caucus.

"The election of 1966 narrowed drastically the geographic base of the Democratic caucus in the House. We hope to expand that base through LINC.

"LINC will meet monthly with our caucus to exchange views on the issues and programs which will be under legislation consideration in 1967 and 1968."

Britain Fights Oil On Beaches

LONDON (AP) — Britain wrote the Torrey Canyon off as scrap iron today. The government turned its attention to the battle to drive the supertanker's oil from England's southern beaches and a campaign for international legal action to deal with repetitions of the disaster.

With all the oil apparently out of the wreck, the admiralty said there would be no further bombing of the wreckage on The Seven Stones Reef off the southwest tip of England. Nor will divers be sent down to inspect the oil tanks.

An official statement said Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government has asked for an early meeting of the Intergovernmental Maritime Consultative Organization. The government said it was preparing proposals for action when a ship sinks outside territorial waters but threatens a country's interests.

Meanwhile it appeared that the broken wreckage of the 61,000- ton supertanker had given up the last of the 35.8 million gallons of crude oil that were in her holds when she ran on The Seven Stones Reef during a storm March 17. For the first time since then the sea around the reef was clear of oil for more than a mile.

"It looks as though this probably is the end of the bombing operation," said Home Secretary Roy Jenkins, "but we still have the crisis of dealing with the oil at sea and that which comes ashore."

Private School Aid Proposed

"Whole-hearted cooperation by educational leaders of Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish religions, and grass-roots education by its members have made Citizens for Educational Freedom a vigorous and rapidly-growing national force," Stuart D. Hubbell, Traverse City attorney, told a recent meeting of Holy Name High School Parents' Club.

Hubbell, executive director of the Michigan branch, identified CEF as a non-sectarian national organization dedicated to achieving freedom of choice in education without penalty or discrimination on religious grounds.

"We have no quarrel with public schools, as long as we have freedom to choose an alternative," said Hubbell. "In a totalitarian government there is no freedom of choice, but our constitution guarantees freedom of religion, and the United States Supreme Court specifies that the child is the responsibility of the parent, not the state.

"Therefore, we believe that it is not our privilege to educate our children in a non-public school, it is our constitutional right. The continuance of our pluralistic society depends on diversity and freedom of choice, and one monolithic State-operated school would result in no freedom at all."

"We believe that all children should have a fair share of our educational tax benefits, regardless of the school attended, and that there is injustice and discrimination in being forced to carry the double burden of supporting two school systems when we are merely exercising our constitutional rights."

"The fears voiced by many churchmen a few years ago that government support would result in excessive control have largely been dissipated; this has not happened in other countries, and there is no reason to think it would here. The G. I. Bill of Rights allowed complete freedom of choice in schools attended. Other fears that CEF was Catholic-dominated were found groundless; and in Michigan, with its high percentage of non-public schools, support from Lutheran, Christian Reformed and Jewish members is most vigorous."

"We believe," said Hubbell, "not only in separation of church and state, but in separation of family and state.

"Many public schools face the same problems confronting non-public schools; overcrowding, inadequate facilities and financing, teacher shortages. CEF believes that discussion of these problems would result in solutions beneficial to both."

Hubbell expressed appreciation for the Peninsula Air Transport "aerial bridge" which was very convenient for him.

Citizens Advisory Group Organizes

Most members of the Citizens Advisory Committee are interested in the subject of downtown development, but they volunteered to serve on Housing Code study committee so it may be expedited as suggested by the Escanaba city administration at a meeting in the State Office Building Thursday night.

The Citizens Advisory Committee was appointed by the City Council for the purpose of study and recommendation on community planning and development.

Robert Crepeau, vice chairman, conducted the meeting in the absence of Chairman Robert Mosenfelder. Mrs. George Bonefeld is secretary.

After approving by-laws for the group, the Advisory Committee elected two additional members to the executive committee. They are Carl Anderson and Elmer Bonifas.

Crepeau advised the Committee that one of the first requirements for the group will be recommendations on a housing ordinance, which must be adopted by the City Council before the community can be eligible to receive federal assistance in its proposed redevelopment program.

About 20 persons volunteered to serve on the Housing Code committee, and elected Mrs. Frank Neumeier as chairman. The committee will study the proposed code and make a report and recommendation to the Advisory Committee, which in turn will make a recommendation to the Council.

Two other committees were organized: Public Housing with John Gannon temporary chairman; and Downtown Development, with Mrs. Pearl Pavlick chairman.

The Public Housing Committee has scheduled a meeting to be held at 8 p. m. April 18 in the library room of the First Methodist Church. Chairman Gannon asked that Advisory Committee members wishing to serve on Public Housing attend the April 18 session.

The next general meeting of the Advisory Committee will be on Thursday, April 27.

Romney Will Meet Migrants

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has agreed to meet with leaders of Michigan's migrant workers to discuss their grievances.

A spokesman for the governor said the meeting has been set tentatively for Tuesday.

Romney first announced that the matter would be turned over to an advisory council on farm labor.

"We don't want to meet with anybody but the governor," insisted Ruben Alfaro, Lansing barber and leader of a group called Concerned Citizens for Migrant Workers.

Alfaro telephoned Lt. Gov. William Milliken who in turn called Romney's office. The meeting was set up at the suggestion of Milliken.

Romney, who does not conduct state business on Sunday, was not on hand Easter Sunday in Lansing to receive a petition of grievances from some 800 Mexican-American workers and their supporters.

He was represented by Milliken, who assured the group Romney would have a sympathetic ear for their problems.

Romney urged those concerned with the plight of the migrant worker to support a Senate bill which would create a statutory commission on agricultural labor in the Department of Labor.

We need a statutory body which has the visibility and clear mandate to improve migrant opportunities in health, education, welfare and employment," Romney said.

Unionism & Govt.

A recent meeting in Escanaba lifted the blanket a bit for a peep at what's coming in relationships between municipal governments and their employes. It looks like trouble, but it could be good, too, in some ways.

The situation results from Act 379 by the Michigan Legislature which authorizes municipal employes to be represented in bargaining for wages and working conditions by unions of their choice.

The situation in Michigan isn't unique. It's duplicated in many states and is a natural effort of city employes' to hike their pay up nearer to that of better-paid industrial workers.

There are some differences between the two, of course, and they will make some of the troubles that are shaping. Industrial employes who fail to reach an agreement in bargaining can strike. Municipal employes under Act 379 can't strike, although it seems any protection of the law from this result is a very sick safety margin.

They shouldn't be able to strike and if they can, or if they can evade the anti-strike rule by mass reports of sickness and other dodges, a very serious situation results which can do unionism no good. If the Acme Manufacturing Co. is struck and its production of whidgets is temporarily halted — so what? But if the municipality is left without hospital service, electric power, police and fire protection and sanitation services there's chaos and this is the implication of public workers' strikes.

The presentations at the workshop included the view of Dr. Charles M. Rehmus, University of Michigan political scientist, that Act 379 shouldn't be regarded as good or bad, but as something to be lived with. Only the Legislature can change it; only the courts can interpret it. Under it municipal workers who have a grievance can appeal for remedy and issues can be arbitrated.

The workshop's lesson for municipalities — and that means for the public interest — was that there's a whole new era of relationship between cities and their employes opening.

In this situation city administrations are on notice that employes will want all the benefits and privileges and income that they have had under the present system of representation, and that in addition they will want all the new benefits and privileges and income that they can get under union bargaining.

This will tend to end any "honeymoon" relationship between city administration and their employes and to substitute for it the hard bargaining and "live by the contract" relationship that is more typical of unions and industries.

The public, as the employer, is going to have only the protection of its city administration in its bargaining with the union representing the city employes. The public is an amateur and the union bargaining agent is a professional, skilled in the law and maximizing membership income.

If there is any inclination on the part of elected city officials to impose political solutions on bargaining problems, especially with a bypass of the city administration's professional management, the result can be only trouble. This has been a commonplace which is now under new pressure.

Experts in the field are now consulting municipal governments how to survive under Act 379. The keystone: "Don't go one step beyond your contract. No concessions. No acceptance of absenteeism. Live up to the contract yourself and insist that all parties to it do the same." Even then it'll be difficult, but without that it may be chaotic, with the unions writing the cities' budgets.

Primary Edge Vital

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — If Michigan's Gov. George Romney could win perhaps five contested, binding primaries, he might enter the 1968 Republican convention with roughly 600 of the 667 delegate votes needed to gain the presidential nomination.

The "if" is, of course, very large, but it is the big presumption which underlies the Romney candidacy. Any sizable failure in primary tests would obviously doom him. Success on the indicated scale would likely provide him with nearly irresistible momentum.

Despite that prospect, his present chief rival, Richard Nixon, could himself enter the convention with upwards of 500 votes and make a hard fight to the end—provided his delegate supporters exhibited staying power against a Romney tide in the primaries.

Other presumptions are laced into this early estimate. It is hazarded here that the only durable favorite-son holdouts at convention eve would be California's Gov. Ronald Reagan (86 votes), Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio (58) and Sen. John Tower of Texas (56).

It is figured that any other favorite sons would by then have crumpled under the fearful pressures either to get with the front-runner or try to block him by openly siding with his main rival.

Those pressures would take much of their force from the hard fact of primary results sprinkled along the nomination route from March to June. Today's common talk of a large number of favorite sons locking up 500 or more delegates right into the convention seems gravely unrealistic, born of the precampaign vacuum.

In very considerable measure, too, it is a Nixon stratagem. Much of the favorite-son talk comes from pro-Nixon GOP figures who, acting clearly in close concert with him, wish to conceal at this stage how much of his probable delegate strength would come from the Goldwater-oriented Old South.

Preliminary calculations suggest, in fact, that the South and some border territory might provide Nixon with more than three-fifths of an estimated 500-odd delegate votes which he could bring into the convention if Romney failed to crack him along the way. A late throw-in from Tower's Texas would raise the proportion still higher.

All these early judgments are founded on checks with leaders in many states over the past two months.

Among such key primary states as New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Oregon and possibly New Mexico and Washington (if pending primary bills are enacted), Romney must score well. It will not be enough simply to stay high in public opinion polls.

The benefit of winning would be more psychological than numerical. Even if he should win five, the delegate gain would not exceed 100 by very much. If favorite-son California and Ohio be set aside, the remaining eight binding primaries can lock up less than 200 delegates. Washington and New Mexico could add another 38.

A really impressive string of Romney victories might break the 1968 race open, and even lead sizable elements of the Reagan-Rhodes delegations into his camp.

Any serious faltering by the Michigan governor might find moderates switching such strength as they could to Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois. But Nixon might be the crucial beneficiary, if he has meantime outdone Romney in important primary tests.

At some stage, conservatives might try to shift massive allegiance to Reagan. But, as with the moderates and a possible move to Percy as a substitute tiger, such an effort might come too late and be too ineffective to block a charging Romney.

C & NW, Milwaukee Merger Advocated

CHICAGO — Consolidation of the North Western Railway and the Milwaukee Road will result in estimated annual overhead savings of $10.2 million, according to testimony before an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing.

The testimony was that of Larry S. Provo, executive vice president of North Western, on the stand for cross-examination at ICC hearings into the proposed North Western-Milwaukee consolidation. The hearings are under direction of Examiner Henry C. Darmstadter and began here Feb. 6.

The general office and other overhead savings form an important part of the total savings and benefits that unification of the two railroads would produce. Such total benefits, including operating savings from elimination of duplicate facilities traffic benefits and over head savings, are expected to approximate $30 million annually.

Look To Decline

The unfavorable trends in North Western's and Milwaukee's freight traffic and revenues are likely to continue in the years ahead and the most effective way to promote improved rail service is to permit these carriers to consolidate their operations, a leading transportation economist said.

Dr. William H. Thompson, professor of industrial administration and research professor of transportation economics at Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa, testified that in his judgment, the unfavorable trends in North Western's and Milwaukee's freight traffic "have largely been the result of the low growth rate of the territory which they serve and the force of competition for their traffic."

Dr. Thompson said that based on a detailed study he made of the freight traffic and revenues of the two roads, "North Western and Milwaukee have been receiving a declining share of Class I railroad freight traffic. In the light of the severe competition which pervades the North Central States and the lagging economic growth in the area they serve, I do not foresee any improvement, but rather a continuing deterioration."

Freight Share Dips

Thompson's study showed that of the total freight traffic in the Western District, North Western's share has dropped from 7.54 per cent in 1926-30 to 4.81 per cent in 1961-65 and Milwaukee's share declined from 8.17 per cent in 4.94 per cent in those same periods.

The Thompson survey also detailed the lag in economic growth of the North Central states — the area where North Western and Milwaukee concentrate most of their operations. Both personal income and population growth have lagged behind the national growth rate, his study showed.

An executive of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States told the ICC hearing that left to operate independently, the North Western and Milwaukee Railroads "will, over the long run, continue to dissipate their assets, possibly to the point of eventual insolvency."

Testifying in support of the consolidation was Hunter Holding, vice president of Equitable, New York. Equitable holds a total of more than $50 million of the bonds of North Western and Milwaukee.

Trucks Increase

Holding testified that Equitable believes an important way to help solve the problems of both roads is to permit them to consolidate.

The efficiencies and economies possible under a unification of the North Western and the Milwaukee railroads would help to offset the erosion of their traffic to trucks, barges and pipelines according to testimony by Iver S. Olsen, assistant vice president-traffic for North Western. He told the hearing that in the postwar period, competition from all other modes of transportation has increased sharply but that truck line competition poses the greatest threat to rail traffic. "Summarizing briefly," Olsen stated, "motor carrier transportation constitutes the most virile competition which the railroads face."

Rails Shrink

"There have been marked increases in the number of trucks, in their capacity, in their speed and in their length of haul," Olsen said. "Improvements in equipment and innovations of special equipment have been introduced. The provisions of a modern highway system with public funds has made a most important contribution to the growth of motor carriers and the Interstate System foretells even greater growth."

Olsen's exhibits showed that since 1929, when the railroads enjoyed about three-fourths of the volume of intercity freight movements, their share has shrunk to an all-time low of 43 per cent in 1965. Conversely, motor trucks have increased their share of intercity freight traffic from 3.3 per cent in 1929 to 22.5 per cent in 1065.

Every book on the play of the cards has a table of standard opening leads from various high card combinations. Every bridge player should know these standard tables and follow them most of the time but no bridge player should follow them blindly.

Thus, the standard lead from king - jack-ten-nine is the jack. The reason is that if your partner shows up with the ace you can pickle the queen in declarer's hand, while if your partner does not show up with the ace you break even.

This is all very good but there is one time when the expert should lead the king. This is when it is obvious that your partner can't have the ace and when you are going to lead the suit in any event. In this extreme case you open the king because once in awhile someone will hold the singleton queen.

West passes the one club opening to see what will happen. He doesn't worry about the possibility of everyone passing because in that case he expects to set the one club contract. He is rather surprised what South rebids two no-trump but he waits patiently to hear more bidding. Needless to say he is disappointed to have to defend against an undoubled two no-trump but he realizes that his partner almost surely has a blank hand and that North and South can probably do pretty well in hearts.

If West is an alert player he will realize that he will take any tricks his side takes. Then West will open the king of clubs.

This will turn out to be a very successful lead. He will pick up the singleton queen of clubs and will make four clubs tricks and his three aces.

Ann Landers

Cancer Research Is Costly; Do You Aid?

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in the letter from the West Virginia reader who wrote that she was afraid to be around women at work who had had cancer operations. The writer said she knew it was crazy but she just couldn't help it.

I, too, have a fear of cancer, but my story is different. Please print this letter because there are thousands more like me, and we need the moral support and understanding of the public.

Three years ago I was operated on for a malignancy. The doctor praised me for coming in at the first sign of trouble. He said I was very wise and very lucky. He assured my husband that the operation was a complete success and said we shouldn't worry. He told me that if I got through five years without a recurrence I could consider myself cured.

I have two years to go and my mind is never at rest. Every day I look for cancer symptoms on my own—hoping and praying I don't find any. At night I go to bed with a prayer, "Dear God, please let everything be O.K."

My children are still in school. My husband is not in the best of health. They need me. Every day is precious now. My burden, and the burden of those who share my problems is heavy. The thought that some people are afraid to be near me is demoralizing and depressing.

Medical science has made tremendous strides in the fight against cancer but there is still so much ignorance—like that of the woman from West Virginia. Your column has educated millions of readers on subjects people don't want to talk about. Will you please print this letter and ask for compassion and understanding for those of us who are fighting a very difficult battle? — A LADY FROM OHIO

Dear Lady: Here is your letter and I am asking for more than compassion and understanding. I am asking for money.

Cancer research is costly. Education and services must be paid for. Each and every one of us has a personal stake in the battle against cancer. Fortunate (and rare) is the family who has not been touched by this dread killer. About 50 million Americans now living will eventually have cancer. This is one out of every four persons in the United States.

I urge everyone who reads this column to respond to the appeal of the American Cancer Society. And be generous, please. Your contribution will mean the difference between life and death.—ANN

Dear Ann Landers: I was very much interested in the letter from the Cleveland woman whose husband has been begging her to accept a mink coat for her 20th wedding anniversary. She said she was going through the change. The hot flashes were driving her crazy. "I don't need a mink coat," she moaned. "What I need is a fan."

I have been married for 21 years and I have been wanting a mink coat for a long time. I live in San Francisco and the weather can get pretty chilly out here. Please tell the Cleveland woman that I will gladly send her a fan if she will send me the mink. — BAY AREA SHIVERS

Dear Goldie Goodheart: Here is your letter and lotsa luck. If we don't get a response out of Mrs. Cleveland, how about trying for a hot water bottle?

All Is In Readiness For Percy Wedding

CHICAGO (AP) — The wedding cake is almost ready, the fitter has taken her final tucks in the bridesmaids' dresses, and hotels have begun to overflow with celebrated guests for Sharon Percy's marriage Saturday to John D. (Jay) Rockefeller IV.

The mood is festive, for friends are as determined as the families of the attractive young couple — he is 29, she 21 — that the shadow of less than eight months will not mar this occasion.

"Many of us haven't been back here since the terrible time of Valerie's funeral," one close friend of the family said.

"Naturally, this is on our minds and it is on Sharon's too. As with all twins, she was very close to her sister," said the friend, as she spoke of the unsolved murder of Valerie Percy in the Percy's suburban home in Kenilworth last September 18.

"However, the whole family feels that this wedding is what Valerie would want for Sharon. They all feel very strongly that Valerie is with them now."

800 Invitations

Although 800 invitations were mailed, Mary Jane Keiss, supervising the wedding details, has alerted caterers to prepare for 1,200 at the reception at Ida Noyes Hall. It follows the double-ring ceremony at Rockefeller Memorial Chapel on the University of Chicago campus.

On the campus where Sharon's father, Sen. Charles H. Percy, once worked his way through school, and in the Gothic chapel where Jay's grandfather, John D. Rockefeller Jr., built the carillon that will resound after the ceremony, the Rev. E. Spencer Parsons, chapel dean, went over details of the wedding.

"If 1,500 guests come I'm afraid 300 will have to sit where they can't see the ceremony," the minister said.

During the service, the Rev. Mr. Parsons will interchange passages of the Book of Common Prayer with the Rev. Robert J. McCracken, pastor of New York's Interdenominational Riverside Church. He performed the bridegroom's adult baptism. Sharon is a Christian Scientist, which has no wedding ceremony.

The Rev. Mr. McCracken arrived Thursday night, as did a host of Rockefellers, Percy relatives and friends.

Private Floor

The 13th floor of Ambassador East Hotel was sealed off by personnel employed by the Percy's to afford privacy to the 54 people in its 34 rooms.

On that floor, along with the bridal party, are Mr. and Mrs. Laurance Rockefeller; Mrs. John D. Rockefeller III, Jay's mother; much of the Guyer family, who are Mrs. Percy's relatives; and Prince Amyn A. Khan, the late Aly's brother, an usher. Sharon is on the private floor, too.

Security men permitted a dressmaker on Floor 13 to make alterations on the dresses purchased in New York two months ago and kept locked up until now.

The guest list is as secret as the designer of the bride's gown. However, the union of the daughter of Republican Percy and Jay, a Democrat among Republican Rockefellers, is attracting great figures in politics as well as business.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower reportedly sent his regrets, but Michigan Gov. George Romney is expected, along with New York Mayor John V. Lindsay; Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., and Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and their wives.

Lynda Bird Johnson is expected to arrive today, too. Her boyfriend actor George Hamilton may arrive Saturday.

The two young ladies became friends when both were guests at Laurance Rockefeller's ranch in Wyoming. Sharon later introduced Lynda and George.

Food Prices Down Again This Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Food prices dropped again this week, with ham and eggs leading the list.

Pork supplies have been running nearly one-third larger than a year ago.

Supermarket pork prices are far lower than a year ago, and likely to remain so until summer.

Demand for eggs slowed after the Easter holiday. Prices also are expected to stay low until summer.

There are about 5 per cent more hens in the country, and they are working harder. But they don't like hot weather, which is why egg prices will probably go up when summer arrives.

There also are larger supplies this spring of beef, turkeys and chickens.

Too, there also is slightly more milk, despite the spilt milk across the land.

Milk production started picking up in December, and March through July are the seasonally heavy production months.

Supplies of southern strawberries are increasing, and prices are dropping.

There are other signs of spring, too, in the produce departments, with increasing supplies of asparagus, green onions, and in the Southwest, okra.

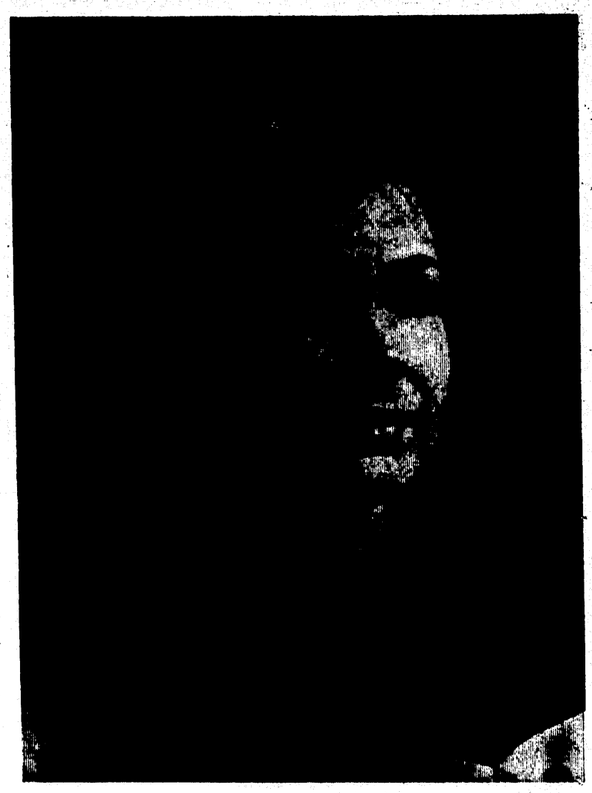
Cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce, onions, potatoes and tomatoes are piling up, along with oranges, grapefruit, bananas, and on the West Coast, grapes and apples.

But canned corn and tomato prices have risen — short supplies.

John Bartella Marriage Told

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alfred Peterson of San Antonio, Texas, of the marriage of their daughter, Karen, to John Milton Bartella Jr. The wedding took place on March 11 in San Antonio.

The bridegroom is the son of Col. and Mrs. John M. Bartella of San Antonio and the grandson of the John J. Bartellas of Escanaba.



MR. AND MRS. ROY M. HAYWARD of Bay City announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra, to Francis A. Bernier, son of Dr. A. B. Bernier of Escanaba, formerly of Manistique and the late Mrs. Bernier. The bride-elect received her Bachelor and Master degrees from Michigan State University. Her fiance, a graduate of Western Michigan University, is presently working on his Master's degree at WMU. An August 26 wedding is being planned.

Does your wife watch her figure but ignore her body?

Don't give her the benefit of the doubt. Ask her. Find out when she last had a Pap test. Or examined her breasts for cancer. Or had a complete health checkup.

Put her on the defensive. Tell her that nearly 100%, that's right, nearly 100% of all uterine cancers are curable if detected early. The Pap test detects them early.

Make her understand that thousands of women with breast cancer are being saved when their cancers are detected early. Monthly self-examination helps detect early signs of breast cancer.

See whether or not she knows the seven warning signals of cancer. She won't. So tell them to her:

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge. 2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere. 3. A sore that does not heal. 4. Change in bowel or bladder habits. 5. Hoarseness or cough. 6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing. 7. Change in a wart or mole.

If a signal lasts more than two weeks, make her see a doctor without delay.

Then, after you get all done lecturing your wife, let her lecture you.

It makes sense to nag your spouse into routine health checkups.

It makes sense to give to the American Cancer Society.

Cutters Due Monday

There's a determined stir in shipping circles on the Upper Great Lakes today, indicating the unrest that comes just in advance of the opening of navigation for another season.

Flying today over ice-choked Green Bay and the Escanaba harbor were representatives of mining and shipping, surveying conditions with an eye to starting the 1967 ore movement as soon as possible.

"When they have completed their inspection they will be able to tell us when the first ore boat will be coming in," said L. A. McMillan, Chicago & North Western dock agent.

The plane carrying the ore traffic and mining men arrived in Escanaba shortly before noon and they were to talk with North Western representatives this afternoon.

Vessels Waiting

The Coast Guard reported that the cutters Mackinac and Mesqute are expected to come to Escanaba and Little Bay de Noc on Monday, April 3, to commence icebreaking operations.

The first vessel will be due in here on the following day, the Coast Guard said.

Navigation opening at Escanaba — if it starts on Monday — will be about one week later than last year.

Three Inland Steel boats were reported as ready to sail from Chicago for Escanaba to take on ore. Annually there is a "race" of sorts to reach Escanaba and open the ore shipping season on the Great Lakes.

Ice Softening

The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce each spring greets the skipper of the first vessel to arrive here and presents him with a gift.

The Conservation Department reported that it had sought to have the arrival of the icebreakers delayed to April 5 or 6 so that commercial fishermen could continue their operations on the ice as long as possible. The Coast Guard, however, said it would be in on April 3.

Cliff Long, Department fish biologist, called upon fishermen to remove their shanties and other gear from the ice before conditions become unsafe. After the cutter takes a swipe through bay ice northward to Gladstone and Kipling, there will be added hazard in removing shanties.

Muskegon Man Charged With Burglary Here

Howard J. Visnaw, 26, of Muskegon, is held in the Delta County jail waiting arraignment on a charge of breaking and entering. He was arrested by Escanaba police Thursday afternoon in a downtown Escanaba store.

It is charged that he burglarized the Gulf Station at 1000 N. 21st St. Wednesday night. About $250 is missing. The Houle Service Station at 514 Stephenson Ave. was entered the same night, and vending machines were broken open.

Schaffer

Mrs. Maurice Gauthier and infant son, Patrick James were dismissed from St. Francis Hospital on Monday.

Mrs. Roy Seymour is a surgical patient at St. Francis Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carson of Melrose Park, Ill. spent the Easter weekend with her parents, the Henry Seymours.

Mrs. Louis Tousignant is recuperating at her home following surgery.

Local Achievement

The Schaffer Swinging Sewers and Knitters, Sharpshooters and Targeteers participated in the local 4-H achievement held March 20 at the Bark River-Harris Elementary School.

The first and second year knitters and sewers sang several songs and a trio consisting of Rose Ann and Ann Racicot and Lori Olson played cornets. A pantomime of "Pink Shoe Laces" was presented by Jeanie Derocher, Lu Ann Robinette and Margaret Valiquette.

A skit on hunting was presented by Mike Stevens, Tom Johnson, Patsy Viau and Mary Racicot. Members of the club also answered questions on "Hunters Safety Code."

Larry Derocher, Wayne Racicot and Jeff Derocher demonstrated archery equipment. Janet Derocher and Mary Racicot put on a shooting demonstration.

Hospital

Frank Lindenthal of Escanaba is a patient at Methodist Hospital in Rochester, Minn., where he underwent surgery on Wednesday, March 29.

Bradley Is Through
By The Associated Press

Ice continues breaking up in the Straits of Mackinac today as vessels load for their spring shipping treks into the Great Lakes.

The 649-foot John G. Munsen, of U.S. Steel's Bradley Fleet, broke through ice in the Straits Thursday, the first major commerce vessel to traverse Lake Michigan this season.

The Coast Guard cutter Mackinac accompanied the Munsen through breaking ice in the channel.

The vessels had no difficulty, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

Some channels, however, still were closed, but warm weather and winds have begun to soften the ice coverings on Green Bay in Lake Michigan, the North Channel in Lake Huron and the St. Marys River.

Bill Returned To Committee; Out In April

it comes back to committee we can sit down and put together a bill that can be accepted."

After the vote, minority leader Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, read a statement on the Senate floor, listing his and several other Democrats' reasons for voting "no" on the bill.

"It contains major inequities, and the approach used by the Republican majority in considering this bill has flagrantly disregarded careful committee consideration and has spurned meaningful participation by Democrats," he said.

Dzendzel said Republicans had failed to sit down with Democrats to exchange views and attempt to work out differences.

However, he left open the door to negotiation, saying "we stand ready to help return this package to the Senate Taxation Committee for further consideration.

"... And we renew our offer to undertake whatever efforts are necessary to work out a fair and adequate program to meet the needs of the people of this state," Dzendzel said.

Democrats also have accused Romney of using the legislative schedule to further his presidential aspirations.

Huber told the Senate he voted against the bill because he had campaigned in 1964 on the issue of opposing any income taxes levied without voter approval.

"If we're going to go to an income tax as a major source of revenue, the people should have a chance to express themselves," said Huber, who tried unsuccessfully Tuesday to amend the bill to provide for such a vote.

Volkema said he had campaigned on the stand that an income tax was not necessary when the state had a surplus, but added that this did not mean he would not support "an equitable tax program."

Lodge said he voted no because he was "not one to support losing causes."

Meanwhile, DeMaso said his tax committee will start reconsidering the tax package Tuesday morning.

Romney's package also contains provisions for a three-cent per package increase in the cigarette tax boosting it from seven cents to 10 cents.

It also includes state payment of 10 per cent of all local property tax bills, a $10 credit on the sales tax on food, repeal of the business activities tax and an increase in the intangibles tax credit from $20 to $100.

Mrs. Buckingham cited several lawsuits and the age and disrepair of the building plus dwindling enrollments as reasons for the school's financial difficulties.

Detroit Playboy Club Drops $25 Admission Fee

DETROIT (AP)—The Playboy Club of Detroit has dropped a $25 admission fee in an effort to comply with a State Liquor Control Commission order.

The club took the action Thursday a few hours after Commision Agent Neva Robinson ruled a new admission policy "presents numerous possibilities for discrimination and exclusivity contrary to the public nature of a Michigan Class C liquor license."

Robinson ordered the club to stop exempting key and card holders from its $25 admission fee, to cease refusing admission to unescorted women, and to submit all proposed advertising to the commission for review.

"In order to comply with an order issued Thursday by the Liquor Control Commission, so that renewal of our state liquor license will be forthcoming, the Playboy Club will immediately drop the $25 admission fee," said a club spokesman.

The club announced the new policy earlier this month. It restricted admission to members and their guests and contained a $25 charge for a first admission.

Robinson said the new policy, in effect, discriminates against some would-be patrons and violates the Michigan law requiring "equal accommodations, advantages, facilities and privileges" in a public place.

The club was given 20 days to appeal the order.

Mead To Keep Building Plan Despite Dip

DAYTON, Ohio — With business "still good, but not booming," Mead Corp. plans to maintain its $35-40 million a year capital expenditure program to provide still more efficient operations in the years ahead, Board Chairman Howard E. Whitaker told shareowners at the annual meeting.

"Business in 1966 was very good," Whitaker said, noting Mead's sales of paper and paper products had grown to a record $633 million and that net earnings per share had advanced 17 per cent above the 1965 level. Both records were achieved despite a 10-week strike at Mead's Gilbert Paper Co. division last fall.

Whitaker said business has not been as "lively" during the first quarter of 1967 at it was last year. He cited declines in building construction and auto sales, plus generally excessive inventories as important factors. The main effect at Mead has been in shorter backlogs of orders, he said.

More Capacity

Offsetting some of the current less favorable trends, however, "We have some very favorable factors working for us," Whitaker pointed out. "We have more productive capacity than ever before. The restoration of the investment tax credit will obviously help our earnings."

Reporting on Mead's $36 million capital expenditures in '66, Whitaker said the major item was completion of a large, high-speed paper machine at Mead's white paper mill in Kingsport, Tenn. "The performance of this unit has been truly amazing . . . a success even exceeding our projections."

Mead's share of capital investments in affiliated companies amounted to another $46 million. Two major projects were completed — a bleached kraft pulp mill in Prince George, British Columbia and a new 800-ton-a-day linerboard mill in Alabama.

Authorize Stock

Shareholders approved amendments to Mead's Articles of Incorporation, including one authorizing 1 million new preferred shares (no par value). Whitaker stated the corporation has no present plans for issuing any of the new shares.

The following Mead directors were re-elected:

Vernon R. Alden, Paul V. Allemang, Arthur L. Harris, Alfred W. Jones, R. Stanley Laing, W. Walker Lewis, Jr., John J. McDonough, J. W. McSwiney, H. T. Mead, Nelson S. Mead, Paul F. Miller, Jr., George H. Pringle, George H. Sheets, Alan H. Temple, C. William Verity, Jr., John M. Walker and H. E. Whitaker.

Directors re-elected all officers:

H. E. Whitaker, chairman of the board; George H. Pringle, president; J. W. McSwiney, executive vice president; George H. Sheets, senior vice president; Hugh A. Black, vice president; Robert J. Blum, William J. Cassidy, Jr., F. H. Chatfield, James S. Evans, Richard A. Gilbert, L. R. Gordon, Arthur L. Harris, H. Warren Kampf, Nelson S. Mead, John C. Redd, Ford T. Shepherd and William W. Wommack, vice presidents; Thomas A. Hammer, Jr., treasurer.

'Sweet Sixteen' Parties Gain Popularity

GO FOR BROKE AT "SWEET SIXTEEN": At this ripe age grandma was supposed to be "sweet 16 and never been kissed." (Mom? — You'd better ask her.) But today's girls find the occasion a swell excuse for a big birthday jamboree — and, this spring, there'll be more Sweet Sixteen parties than ever. But, don't rush to change your birth date — you can hold 'em any time of the year. Shy birds rig them so they're for all girls . . . however, they're likely to have a lot more pizzazz with plenty of boys on hand. Sweet Sixteen is an any-kind-of-a-party. You decide what kind. In cold weather use the snow for a skiing, sledding party. In summer a poolside (or beach) party's hip and pop. In spring an outdoors-indoors (since weather's unpredictable) party is smart. Picnics are fine most any time of the year . . . free and imaginative. Pitch your party for any hour that suits your style. Dress? — Elect any mode from dungarees to formal. Games are great . . . dancing is greater. Food is greatest . . . so, fuel up your guests. A gastronomic medley of dishes reported dished out at recent news-making Sweet Sixteen frolics includes: hamburgers, franks, pizzas, sandwiches, steak, ice cream and way-out sundaes . . . and plenty of soft drinks. Food trend can be exotic — Italian, Mexican, Chinese, Polynesian. Your Sweet Sixteen party is good training for dear old dad . . . for launching you later on in bigger directions. Maybe you can sweet-talk him into running it for you and your friends with all the trimmings . . . swinging Sweet Sixteen parties are coming in big in restaurants, motels, clubs and hotels . . . are now big business. During the last year, these report batches of the parties, filling their premises with hundreds of happy howlers . . . and not all of them 16. Watch it, or those older-ages will think it's such fun they'll crash in. But, never mind — you'll never be sweet 16, again.

MORE DOPE ABOUT SOAP: Soap remains as useful as ever for good old washing . . . But dope just turned over to us by cleanliness experts indicates you're missing bets if you aren't up on these other fancy soap hints: 1) to pick up beads scattered from a string, run a moistened soap bar over the floor — they'll stick to it (works, too, for tiny particles of broken glass, sharp little tacks, etc.); 2) when bottle caps stick — if it's a nonfood container, coat inside threads of cap with slippy soap (ditto screws and saw teeth in carpentry, needles in heavy sewing); 3) gotta make a catch-y something slide? — soap underside of drawers, soap window ropes, thread ends (to thread a needle) and zippers; 4) to stop eyeglasses and bathroom mirrors from steaming up, soap them and polish clear; 5) and a novel tip (we guess, for girls only?) — to hold up droopy ankle and knee socks, draw a moistened soap "garter" around your leg . . . sock should "grip" on it . . . O. K., finished? Then there's nothing else to do but grab a nice new bar and jump into a hot tub!

THEIR FUTURE IS IN YOUR HANDS — SAY NEW MUSIC MOGULS: The new tape cartridge industry with its new music machines that play the tune tapes (at home, walking around, anywhere) is airing this ammunition at you. Expects to sell two-thirds of the cartridge music output to teens (and immediate post-teens) . . . But you're puzzling them. F'rinstance, you're not buying cartridge tapes of a hits till, kerplunk, they fell of the top hot 100 and are off the air. Will you switch from records, transistor radios to these new tune tapes? You've got these music moguls dizzy, waiting to find out!

TALK ABOUT TEENS EXCELLING IN SPORTS! A minnow of a new girl swimmer who's only got her bare foot on the bottom rung of the teen ladder is now threatening to paralyze natatorial competition for the next several Olympics. Marie-Jose Kersaudy has recently scooped up eight international gold medals (four free-style, one backstroke, one butterfly, one free-style relay and one mixed relay) — and she's only just 13. Looks like Mlle. Kersaudy (she's from French New Caledonia in the South Pacific) may be skimming right on the surface of the water by the time she's full-blown 18.

RING THE BELL: The U. S. is the telephone bell-ringest country on earth — as many phones as all the others, and they're used more. Old adults probably believe that this outstanding record stems solely from young adult usage . . . there's some truth in that.

Ma Bell's (the phone company) latest study shows your phoning is growing rapidly — today, those humming wires get worn by regular use among more than 40 per cent of you in U. S. homes . . . while only six years ago, this was only 33 per cent. What do phonophiles use the phone for? . . . First pleasure, then business: 65 per cent of you "just to talk;" 58 per cent of you about "school or homework, too;" 52 per cent to "make or change dates;" 41 per cent to foster "school activities;" 39 per cent for club and church activities. Significant conclusion: young adults glue themselves to that black, dumbbell-shaped instrument, like everyone else, to hear and be heard. In today's world, highly centered in mass communications, you are an insatiably communications - conscious group. And with whom? Would you believe it — girls get most of today's teen-age phone calls. They get 43 per cent; boys get 32 per cent; adults get 22 per cent.

Lakes States Area Projects Proposed

IRON MOUNTAIN — In its first meeting of 1967, held here Tuesday and Wednesday, the Northern Great Lakes Resources Development Committee agreed to support a bill amending the federal Consolidated FHA Act of 1961, which would authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to finance recreational enterprises for a longer period than is presently available.

Sponsored and drafted by Senator Nelson, (D-Wisconsin), the amendment would expand FHA loan abilities, and lengthen the repayment time while making more funds available. Both recreational enterprises and businesses associated with recreation would be affected. In addition, local banks will be able to participate to a greater extent in the financing than is presently possible.

The NGLRDC elected the following officers: president, Harold Dettman, Michigan; vice-president, John Rife, Minnesota, and secretary, M. J. Brunner, Wisconsin. Dettman, who repeats as president, is a motel operator and chairman of the board of supervisors in St. Ignace, Mackinaw County; Rife is an insurance agent and operates a farm business in Sebeca, Minn.; Brunner is a banker in Rhinelander.

Recommendations

The NGLRD Committee also adopted a series of recommendations for the tri-state area dealing with agriculture, transportation, and the use of natural resources.

Recommendations are, by area:

Agriculture: Research for a more positive method of soil analysis to determine individual soil capabilities throughout the area, provisions for additional finances to further develop a pasture and forage improvement program; increased FHA funds and authority to aid agricultural expanson; increased soil surveys and technical assistance funds from SCS (Soil Conservation Service); point out, with the Extension Services of the three states, areas which have the greatest agricultural potential; and encourage the Extension Service to conduct educational programs on the value of marketing orders for agricultural commodities.

Fisheries and Wildlife: Forest inventory expansion to include a determination of game habitat conditions in forested areas; additional funds for the forest service study.

Forest Cooperatives

Forestry and Forest Products: That the Forest Service set up forest cooperatives for the marketing of forest products: that private industry aid government agencies in providing forest management information to private land owners; increased emphasis to the marketing and utilization of forest products in the tri-state area; support the proposed maple syrup marketing study being planned by the University of Wisconsin Extension Service; and that Christmas tree marketing and management be more fully studied for area potential.

Land and Water Resources: Support continuous, comprehensive planning to develop human and natural resources of the area; that the Extension Service, U. S. Geodetic Survey, and SCS (Soil Conservation Service) increase their programs for topographic and soil survey mapping; further research on water quality and multiple use of water by Michigan State University, the University of Wisconsin and the University of Minnesota; that the governors of the three states request additional federal funds to help state and local water management agencies; and to emphasize the multiple use of water as a good management practice.

Industrial Development: That the universities and their extension services study the potential for vocational training in the NGL area; examine methods of getting labor force to return to the NGL area; promote research for industrial developers, so they may make area and location decisions; and examine further potential for construction of retirement and 'retreat' type of housing. Expanded training and technical services for small business owners be studied by the Extension services.

Recreation: Urge development of national areas for recreation, with primary consideration to the Pictured Rocks, Sleeping Bear, Apostle Islands, Voyageur and Sylvania areas; that the three land-grant universities analyze the economic structure of the recreation industry in the NGL area; that the committee go on record as advocating local agencies, businesses, and city governments cooperate fully in the development of new recreation and entertainment facilities to create greater interest and attraction for the area.

Transportation: That north-south tourist travel in the western NGL area be expanded and encouraged, and east-west travel in the Northern sector of the area be encouraged by the modernization of highway US-2 in the three states; and that planning and construction of access and pleasure roads be carefully considered.

In other business, the committee is considering a proposed horticultural project, at an approximate cost of $560,000. The project would be conducted by research and extension facilities of the three land-grant universities, Michigan State, University of Wisconsin and University of Minnesota. A research facility in each state is tentatively proposed. The cost amounts to about $37,000 per state, per year.

Dr. Malcolm Dana, Department of Horticulture, University of Wisconsin, said the proposed project will deal primarily with fruit -production in the NGL area. Crops discussed were cranberries, now a $7 million annual enterprise in Wisconsin, and red raspberries, blueberries, apples and sphagnum moss.

Nottingham Sheriff Still A Poor Archer

DETROIT (AP) — Things haven't changed much in Nottingham, England, since the days of Robin Hood.

The sheriff still can't hit the bulls eye and poaching is on the rise in Sherwood Forest.

Elliott M. Durham, current Sheriff of Nottingham, was in Detroit Thursday to help promote the ninth annual International Indoor Open Archery Tournament this weekend at Cobo Hall.

Durham readily agreed at the suggestion of newsmen during a press conference to try the long bow on a target on a grassy park near downtown Detroit.

Resplendent in his 14th Century blue robe, cocked hat, chain of office, the sheriff and his macebearer, Frank Jones, stopped traffic in a stroll to the park.

The sheriff missed several shots before a couple of arrows found their mark in the target, 25 yards distant.

Asked if the original sheriff of Nottingham might have done better, Durham replied: "Well, I should think he was a hell of a lot better shot than I am."

Robin Hood?

"He was a resistance leader," said Durham. "He did a good job in his own way."

He termed the original sheriff of Nottingham a man "working for his king and earning his salary."

The crime rate in Nottingham today.

"There's too much of it," said Durham. "Housebreaking is on the increase. So are crimes of violence. Poaching, too. If I want a pheasant now, I have to go to a pub and buy one from the poacher."

Family Planning No Problem Says Welfare Leader

LANSING (AP) — State programs to help needy women obtain a doctor's birth control advice, which stirred up some controversy in the Legislature two years ago, now are working smoothly, officials report.

Despite fears of some lawmakers that welfare recipients might be pressured into seeking birth control services—as a step to reduce the number of poor people—"we have not had any real conflicts or issues or difficulties or complaints," said Lynn Kellogg, deputy state social welfare director.

The Legislature approved two family planning assistance programs in 1965.

One allows case workers to inform women on welfare about available family planning services, but provides "no effort shall be made to suggest or persuade recipients to request or not request family planning services.

Pressure Forbidden

The other allows the State Health Department to provide family planning and advice to needy women not on welfare, again providing no sort of pressure shall be used.

Rep. William Ryan, D-Detroit, introduced the bills to set state policy on the issue and was among those with misgivings about possibly subjecting welfare recipients to coercion to use the services.

But now, he said, "there has been to my knowledge no real problem. I think they (health and welfare departments) have used their authority wisely."

The programs started about a year ago. In the first three months, more than 1,500 welfare recipients received aid at a cost of about $13,000, Kellogg said.

Local health departments, with $30,000 in state funds and about $100,000 in federal funds, expect to serve 6,000 women this fiscal year, said Dr. Gerald Rice of the State Health Department.

Service Available

"The part we agreed on," Ryan said of the 1965 debates, "was that just because a person is poor, she should be no less able to avail herself of the services."

The Health Department took that position officially in 1964, and also said family planning services would include advice to women who wanted to be pregnant, and were not.

"Wanted children are essential to total family health—unwanted children frequently have an adverse effect," it said.

"We feel the programs went into effect much more smoothly than any one anticipated," Kellogg said. "We think the workers have used great care in the way they approached the subject."

In the course of an interview covering the total family situation, he said, the case worker will mention the availability of a number of services, including family planning.

Honor Religious Beliefs

If the women decide to seek family planning service, the state will pay for her visit to her private physician or a family planning clinic, Kellogg said. But, he added, it is pointed out that the women's decision in no way affects her eligibility for continued welfare payments.

"Whatever assistance is offered, if the woman asks for it, is in the context of her religious beliefs," Dr. Rice said.

He said the department seeks $60,000 from the state for next year and hopes to expand the program into more counties so that it can serve possibly twice as many women as this year, if that many apply.

Family planning service for one woman costs about $25 a year, he said, including a physical examination, counseling, cancer tests and devices, if prescribed.

Dr. Rice said he had no figures on how many of the women served by local health departments were unmarried, but noted most give their name as "Mrs. —."

The Welfare Department has set no standards on age or marital status for welfare recipients who ask for family planning service, said Mrs. Lois Lamont, supervisor of special projects for the State Department of Social Services.

LANSING (AP) — Beginning this year, Michigan Week will have two Saturdays.

The eighth day, called "community pride day," is May 20 and will kick off the 14th annual Michigan Week. The day is to encourage citizens to join clean-up campaigns in their comunities.

What Police Check In Car

LANSING (AP)—When troopers operating the new State Police vehicle check lanes get to work on a car, they check just about everything but the ash trays and the ornament on the hood.

They check its lights, horn, brakes, glass, muffler — and even measure the tread on the tires.

If the tread is less than 2-32 inch, they'll warn the driver, said Cpl. Duane Smith. But police can't give tickets for bald tires—they're not against the law.

Troopers also note whether the car has seat belts and whether the driver is using them. That is done only for statistical purposes. The law does not require seat belts.

Here's what police check:

Windshield — — is it cracked? is it obscured? does it have safety glass?; windshield wipers and washers — the law requires washers that work; the rest of the glass;

Lights—do turn signals work? does the little light on the dashboard come on when headlights are on high beam? are the headlights properly aimed? do the brake lights work? can the license plate be read at night;

Horn; steering — is there play in the wheel?; brakes—foot and emergency; tires — are there cuts, bulges or breaks; exhaust —noisy? leaky; rusted muffler?

Officers check the driver's license and registration and made sure he has proof of liability insurance on his car.

If the policy he held when he got his registration is still in effect, the registration will show it and no more is needed. Otherwise, he needs a certificate from his insurance company.

MODIFIED CONTEMPORARY: This ranch, definitely contemporary in style, has sufficient modifications to permit its construction in any neighborhood without creating a jarring note. Vertical patterns, stained dark, with light trim and roof, are complimented by stone adjacent to front door.

Unusual Features In Ranch

By ANDY LANG

Most of us like some individuality in the makeup of our homes. We want at least one thing which is a bit unusual and which borders on innovation without being radically different.

This is best accomplished in the layout itself, since it permits an exterior that harmonizes with other houses in the neighborhood. Architect Herman H. York has carried out this idea in an attractive ranch of modified contemporary style, with several interesting features not visible from the front yet sure to produce compliments from those visiting the house for the first time.

One of the outstanding layout characteristics is at the rear, where there are two terraces — not merely two open areas next to each other, but a family terrace closed on three sides and a private terrace hedged in and accessible from the master bedroom suite. A stone wall separates these two terraces, acoustically as well as physically.

Another conversation - encouraging feature is the near-central location of the kitchen to make it the hub of all entertaining activity. An eye-catching and practical addition to the kitchen is the large dinette area, with an exposed brick wall backed up to the family room fireplace and with sliding glass doors leading to the family terrace.

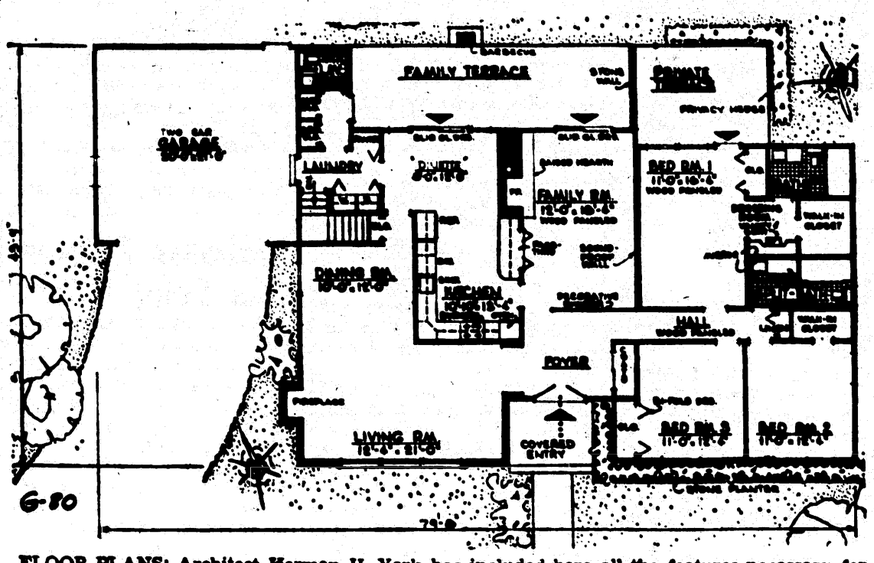
Adjacent to these spaces are the laundry, lavatory, mud closet, pantry, broom closet and stairway down to the cellar. An examination of the circulation pattern in the vicinity of the laundry shows how practical this layout is. There is even a door to the family terrace, which means that the lavatory can be reached from any one of four locations: terrace, garage, kitchen or cellar. The two-car garage is oversized, providing ample room for power equipment and general outdoor storage.

The plan indicates two fireplaces, one in the family room and one in the living room, but if budget restrictions mean the elimination of one, it probably would be more practical to retain the one in the family room. The living room and dining room are in an L-shaped combination — 21' in one direction, 22' 4" in the other.

The bedroom wing is screened from the living areas by the placement of the hall. Before reaching this space, a decorative screen divider separates the foyer from the family room from direct view.

The owners' bedroom boasts of its own dressing room with a large vanity table. A walk-in clothes closet for "her" and a separate one for "him" round out the suite along with a private bathroom. For bedroom No. 2, a walk-in closet serves as a noise buffer between the bedroom and bathroom, which has compartmented spaces for tub and water closet. There are windows in both bathrooms and the service lavatory. The walls of the bedroom hall, as well as the master bedroom, are wood paneled.

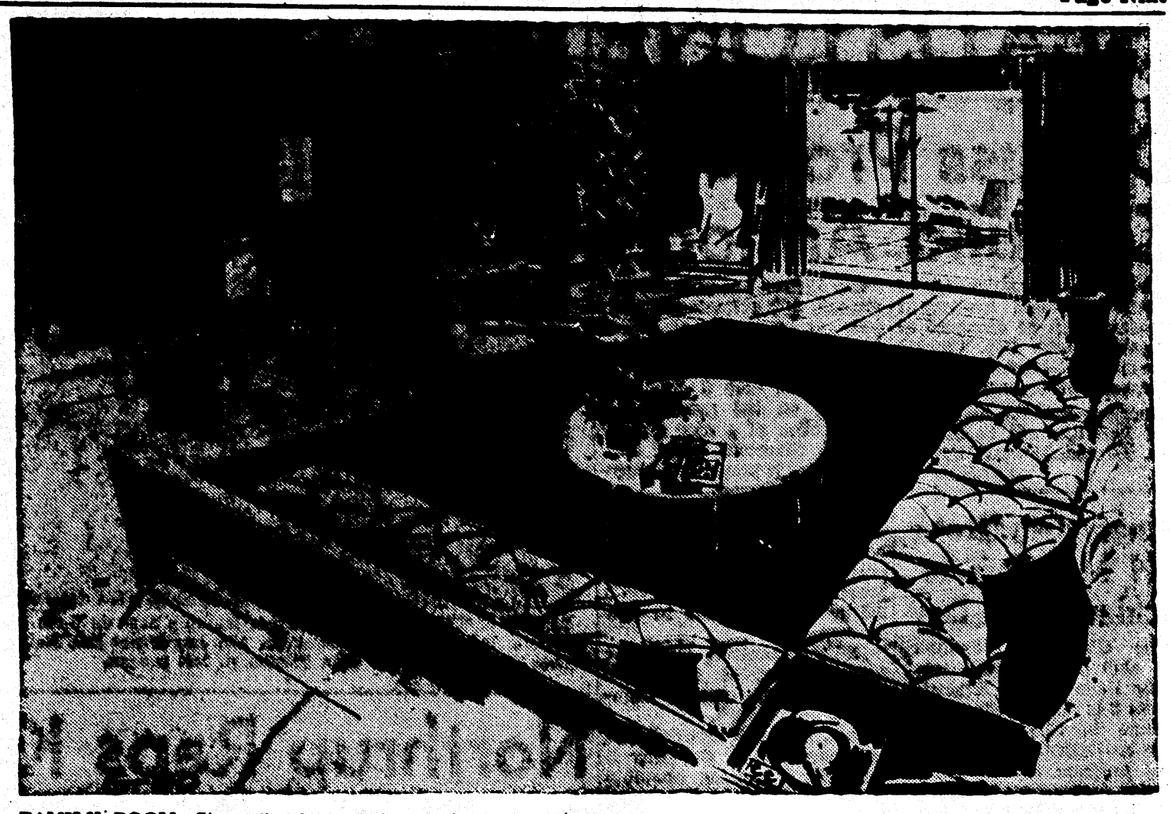
Outside, vertical patterns are used for the side walls, with an accent of stone at the living room. The oversized wood louvers in the peaks of all gables are part of the architectural style, designed to keep the detail in scale and to turn what is often an unattractive ultilitarian necessity into a decided asset. The double front doors contribute to the elegance of the house as do the large electric lamps flanking the entrance.



FLOOR PLANS: Architect Herman H. York has included here all the features necessary for gracious living in this day and age, plus several that are unusual. One of these is the alignment of two terraces at the rear of the house, with a stone wall separating them.

G-80 STATISTICS

Design G-80 has a living room, dining room, kitchen-dinette, family room, foyer, laundry, three bedrooms, 2½ baths and two terraces, with a total habitable area of 1968 square feet. There are 441 additional square feet comprising the garage area, which is set back more than 22' from the front of the house. Over-all dimensions, including the garage and the two terraces, are 79' 5" by 45' 9".



FAMILY ROOM: Stone fireplace, with raised hearth, is focal point of this family room, which has sliding glass doors leading to rear terrace and pass-through to kitchen.

State Schools To Get Opera

ALPENA (AP)—Grand opera will come to 26 northern Michigan communities next spring under a program sponsored jointly by the Alpena public school system and Oakland University.

Dr. Gene Gisert, Alpena school superintendent, said the program is being organized under the Elementary-Secondary Public Education Act. It is financed by a federal grant of about $40,000.

Gisert said the Alpena school system Oakland University have obtained an agreement with the Detroit Grand Opera Association to hire professional stars and produce the tour.

Starting next fall, Oakland University will send instructors into the northern Michigan communities in advance of the opera company to help students understand what they will be seeing.

Two operas now are scheduled for the tour—Carmen and Figaro. Local people will appear in minor roles in the operas and also will work in the technical end of the productions.

GLADSTONE

Discuss Project To Build Armory

The proposed construction of a National Guard Armory at Gladstone will be discussed at a meeting with Rep. Charles Varnum (R-Manistique) in Gladstone on Saturday.

Company E of the 10th Engineer Battalion will be host to Rep. Varnum, Major Hollowell, Army advisor, and Capt. George Hansen, 107th Engineers staff assistant, Ishpeming, on Saturday, said Capt. George Anderson, unit commander.

They will hold a discussion meeting on the progress for construction of a new armory for the Gladstone based unit. The Guard is presently occupying rented quarters.

Rep. Varnum and the group will inspect the site for the proposed armory, as well as the present facilities. Financial proceedings in connection with the project will also be discussed.

Wallace Comeron, Gladstone superintendent of schools, is chairman of the Armory Committee.

Capt. Anderson reported that all Guardsmen of Company E will hold a training assembly on Saturday and Sunday, April 1 and 2. Classes for non-commissioned officers will be taught in a variety of subjects, along with work projects.

The unit is now at its lowest actual strength, with more than 45 of its men on a six-month active duty tour at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. A number of these men will come back to the unit starting the end of May and June.

Ninety Gladstone 4-H Members In Achievement Day

The Gladstone community 4-H club members will leave in the Delta County Extension Bus at 8 a. m., Saturday, April 1, from the City Hall, to attend the Delta County Achievement program at the William Bonifas Auditorium in Escanaba. Ninety members and leaders from the Gladstone club will participate in the program.

An opening ceremony, style show of clothing and knitted articles, and the introduction of king and queen candidates will be held in the morning. The chorus will open the afternoon program which will include the talent show, public speaking and award presentations.

Nieuwenkamp Heads GIDC

Wynand Nieuwenkamp, manager of Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative, was elected president of the Gladstone Industrial Development Corp. at the Board of Directors reorganizational meeting Thursday night after the annual membership meeting at the City Hall.

He succeeds Frank Stupak.

Other officers elected are Dr. E. A. Kinnie, vice president; James McCarthy, secretary, and Jack Tackman, treasurer. Dr. Kinnie had served as secretary last year with William Noreus as vice president and Ray Norton as treasurer.

Nieuwenkamp, Noreaus and Kinnie were reelected to three-year terms on the Board of Directors.

Charles H. Burton submitted his resignation to the Board of Directors and was presented a pluque by Stupak for his "excelent work with the corporation." Burton's vacancy on the board will be filled in the near future.

Reviewing the work of the GIDC in the past year, Stupak said their aim had been to strengthen and to give asistance to industry when needed and this had been done in the form of small loans when needed.

He cited the progress made in Gladstone, noting LaPine Bros. and their veneer plant in the Industrial Park. He said plans for improvements at the park were finalized at a meeting with Williams & Works, engineers, Wednesday. The city has obtained an Economic Development Administration grant for improvements at the park. The city will contribute $78,000 as its share of the $156,000 project.

City Manager H. J. Henrikson said the city would be ready to advertise for bids for street, sewer and water projects in April with contracts ready to be let in May. Completion is scheduled for this fall.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

MIXED EMOTIONS at the Dodgers' training base in Vero Beach, Fla., belong to Jim Lefebvre, left, the second baseman, and newcomer Bob Bailey (12) who is learning to play first base. Bailey was with Pittsburgh last season.

Northrup Raps Key Hit As Tigers Nip Phillies

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Jim Northrup, a 27-year-old slugger, grinned and said, "It was a fast ball that sailed a little."

He was talking about his bases-loaded single that gave the Detroit Tigers their only runs in a 2-1, ninth inning victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday.

Northrup went two-for-four and raised his spring training average to .314. He also hiked his RBI total to 17, well ahead of Willie Horton's second-place nine.

The Tigers had been baffled by big Jim Bunning's pitches for seven scoreless innings. Dick McAuliffe, Bill Freehan and Northrup had managed a hit each but no runs.

Pedro Ramos took over in the eighth with a 1-0 edge. He held it through the eighth, allowing one hit to Ray Oyler but no runs.

Then in the ninth, he weakened. Mickey Stanley walked. Jake Wood followed with a single. Gates Brown got another, filling the bases. Then Northrup drilled one up the middle, scoring Stanley and Wood.

"Bunning sure was hard to hit," said Northrup. "He changed speeds very well. Ramos has a bad arm. He wasn't throwing well."

Earl Wilson started for Detroit and pitched six innings, allowing one run, three hits and a walk. He struck out seven.

The lone Philly run came in the fifth. Gary Sutherland singled and Tony Taylor doubled him home.

Mickey Lolich worked two innings, gave up two hits and no walks and struck out one. Larry Sherry finished, setting the Phillies down in order in the top of the ninth. He got credit for the victory.

"I had two good innings," said Lolich. "I tried to throw a couple of sinking fastballs that didn't sink, but they didn't hurt me any. They were too high to be reached."

Sherry said, "That's what you've got to do when you're one run down. You've got to get them out and give your guys another chance. You're either a hero or a bum."

Tigers Manager Mayo Smith said "The pitching was all good. Wilson and Lolich looked real good. I had to pitch Lolich today because he leaves tomorrow for a weekend with the Michigan National Guard.

Smith said he would work his relief crew of Johnny Podres, Fred Gladding and John Klippstein today against the Washington Senators.

The Tigers optioned three pitchers to their Toledo farm club Thursday. Pat Dobson, Bill Graham and John Hiller were sent down to the International League club.

The cut left the Tigers with 31 players. They must be down to 28 when they open their American League season at California April 11.

Jake Is Ready To Help Tigers

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Jake Wood, facing another season as a utility man, clings to the philosophy that, "pennant winners don't do it with just nine men."

"Somebody has got to do some extra work," he adds.

Jake, a 29-year-old righthander, figures he'll be one of the ones doing the extra work for the Detroit Tigers this year.

"Sometimes, you play with a club like this one that has a better than 90 per cent chance of winning and you want to do your job, be ready.

"If I can play more than one position, when someone gets hurt and the manager calls on me, I have to fill in and do my job and play whatever he wants, first base, third, pinch hit, pinch run, whatever.

"I just want to be ready," he added.

The 6-foot-1, 170-pounder has been with Detroit since 1961. He hit .252 last season, appearing in 98 games. Speed is one of his strong points. In 1961 he led the American League with 14 triples and 30 stolen bases, the most for the Tigers since 1932.

He's played all infield positions and the outfield, but likes second base best.

"I think I'm hitting the ball better this spring than I ever have. The hits aren't falling in, but I'm hitting the ball good.

"I'm standing a little closer to the plate and I think this makes me a little more aggressive," he said.

"I want to get off to a good start," he asserted. "I know what I've got to do, I've just got to get out there and do it."

Liston Kayos Foe In First

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — Sonny Liston has started another comeback that he hopes will earn him a chance to regain the world heavyweight boxing championship.

The former champ, who lost the title to Cassius Clay three years ago, knocked out Dave Bailey of Philadelphia in 2:22 of the first round of their scheduled 10-rounder Thursday night.

Liston weighed 221, Bailey 214½.

"It was a perfect short right hook," Liston said. The Las Vegas, Nev., fighter had hoped the fight would last longer since he needed the work.

It was Liston's first fight since he flattened Amos Johnson, another American, in Goteborg last August. Before the Johnson fight, Liston had knocked out Gerhard Zech of Germany.

Chicago Hawks Defeat Bruins

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins finally managed to stop Chicago's famed "scooter line," but the result was the same — another victory for the Black Hawks.

Although Stan Mikita, Ken Wharram and Doug Mohns were shackled for the first time this season by the lowly Bruins, Chicago rallied for a 3-1 victory Thursday night in hiking its record to 40-16-12 with two National Hockey League games left.

"They had a few chances but couldn't put the puck in," Chicago coach Billy Reay said. "However, I'm not worrying about their putting it in now. I'm thinking about them putting it in next week."

With the regular season championship wrapped up long ago, Reay was looking ahead to the Stanley Cup playoffs. The lineup for the playoffs will be determined by the final outcome of a three-way fight for second by Montreal, New York and Toronto.

Mikita, who has games left at Montreal and New York this weekend, failed to add to his 94 points and still needs four to break teammate Bobby Hull's NHL record for a single season.

Mikita, Wharram and Mohns had connected for eight goals each in 13 previous outings against Boston this year. However, they were unable to add to the total on 12 shots at the Bruins' net.

Patterson Wins Test Bout; May Get Title Shot

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay may defend his title against former champion Floyd Patterson in Detroit before answering an April 28 draft call.

Clay's manager, Herbert Muhammad, said in Chicago Thursday that Patterson had been offered a match against Clay on two conditions.

The first was that Patterson defeat little-known Bill McMurray in their scheduled 10-rounder in Pittsburgh's Civic Arena Thursday night.

Patterson met that test with ease, knocking out his 10th ranked opponent from Sacramento, Calif., in 2:37 of the first round with a lightning left hook and a short, hard right to the head.

The second condition may be a little tougher fulfilling.

Muhammad said Clay would fight only if Mrs. Jean Wilson, who operates the E&J Sports Club in Detroit, comes up with a $250,000 guarantee.

Mrs. Wilson said she expects to sign Clay and Patterson for an April 25 fight in Detroit's Cobo Arena, but she didn't say anything about the guarantee.

Patterson, relaxing in his dressing room after hardly working up a sweat against McMurray, said he had received a telephone call from a Clay spokesman earlier in the day.

"He asked if I was interested in a fight with Clay," Patterson said. "I said, 'Sure, I'm interested.' I expect to hear something definite in a day or so."

Patterson took a humiliating beating from Clay at Las Vegas, Nev., Nov. 22, 1965, losing on a 12th-round technical knockout.

Patterson complained that he was hampered by a back injury, and Clay later said he carried the former two-time champion most of the fight.

Clay has made nine defenses of the title he won from Sonny Liston Feb. 25, 1964—the last a seventh-round knockout of Zora Folley in New York March 22.

Baseball Report Is Like Bulletin From Hospital

By The Associated Press

The Senators have a sprained ankle, the Orioles have water on a $100,000 knee and the Yankees have a hamstring and some shin splints on the mend.

But the Dodgers, with a broken ankle and a stomach ache that might be an ulcer, are winning exhibition baseball's medical sweepstakes.

Los Angeles sent centerfielder Willie Davis back home Thursday after what had looked like a sprain turned out to be a broken bone in Davis' left ankle.

Davis will miss the Dodgers' opener April 10 and could be out even longer. Accompanying him to Los Angeles was outfielder Lou Johnson who had been in a Florida hospital with stomach pains that just might be an ulcer.

Elsewhere on the injury front Thursday, Paul Casanova, the Senator's catcher, sprained an ankle in a game aginst the Yankees and will be out for a few days, and Baltimore's Frank Robinson had some fluid drained from his knee and played his first complete game of the spring.

And Mickey Mantle, out for 10 days with a pulled hamstring, returned to the Yankee line-up as did Joe Pepitone, who had been out for a few days with shin splints.

Biggest news on the playing field was Juan Marichal's first outing with San Francisco since ending his holdout. Marichal went four innings and gave up just three hits as the Giants beat California 7-5. Jim Davenport had a three-run double for the Giants.

Lee Stange and Hank Fischer blanked the Orioles on three hits as Boston won 1-0. Tony Conigliaro doubled in the winning run.

Milt Pappas also turned in a strong pitching performance, allowing just three hits in eight innings and leading Cincinnati to a 3-1 triumph over the Dodgers.

More good pitching came from Dick Hughes of St. Louis, who set down the New York Mets on one hit through five innings. The Cardinals scored six times in the first inning to win 8-3.

John Odom went five innings for Kansas City and gave up just three hits as the Athletics beat Houston 3-2.

Jim Northrup drove in two runs with a single in the ninth, giving Detroit a 2-1 triumph over Philadelphia.

The Chicago Cubs mounted a 14-hit attack and crushed Cleveland 6-2 behind Ken Holtzman who went six innings and gave up five hits.

Pittsburgh also got plenty of hitting, three hits each from Donn Clendenon, Manny Mota and Bill Mazeroski, and bounced Washington 11-4.

Harmon Killebrew homered for Minnesota, his sixth of the spring, as the Twins edged the New York Yankees 4-3.

Alabama Runner Inks Saint Pact

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Husky fullback Les Kelley, the No. 1 draft pick of the New Orleans Saints signed a contract Thursday with the National Football League club for an unrevealed amount.

A three-year regular at University of Alabama, the 223-pound Kelley had a college career record of 860 yards rushing on 234 carries for an average 3.7 yards per carry.

Who's Worried About Cokes?

NEW YORK (AP) — "Worried about Curtis Cokes? Why should I be. He'll do enough worrying for both of us."

That's the word from Gypsy Joe Harris, a cool, unbeaten 22-year-old fireball who meets welterweight champion Curtis Cokes in a nontitle 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight. The bout is rated even money.

"I'm not worried about him," said Cokes, making his debut in the Garden. "He's a kid but he can be fought. And he can be handled. I'll handle him."

It will be the first appearance in New York for Harris, a squat, 5-foot-5½ buzzsaw puncher who has become a red hot attraction in his native Philadelphia.

"After I whip Cokes, I'll be just as hot in New York," said Harris, a 10th grade, school dropout who has been getting nothing but straight A's in his ring tests. He has won all 16 of his pro fights, eight by knockouts, in 28 months of pro battling.

Cokes, 29, stands 5-foot-9 and is rated a boxer-puncher. In nine years he has posted a 45-8-3 won-lost-draw record, including 20 knockouts. He has been stopped once. He has an unbeaten string of nine over two years, including a draw in Paris with Frenchman Francois Pavilla.

Warriors Snare Playoff Opener From St. Louis

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "We lost the game and it makes no difference whether we lost by 50 points or one," surmised player-coach Richie Guerin of the St. Louis Hawks who nearly won after benching himself.

If Guerin stays in Saturday night's game, the San Francisco Warriors had best beware warned their own coach Bill Sharman.

San Francisco took a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven playoff for the Western crown in the National Basketball Association chase by edging the Hawks 117-115 after building a 22-point lead on Thursday night.

Tonight's eastern division action centers in Philadelphia where the 76ers tangle with the Boston Celtics in another clash between Wilt Chamberlain and Boston's player-coach Bill Russell, who won't figure on sitting benchwise.

Before a crowd of 7,813 at the Cow Palace, the Warriors jumped into a 40-25 first quarter lead as Rick Barry dumped in 16 points and Nate Thurmond contributed 10.

Guerin played only 12 minutes and explained, "We had to go to a pressing game. We needed quickness to generate our offense."

His Hawks rallied in the fourth stanza twice. Early, they scored 16 points to cut the margin to six points and later they came back to trail by only two with 30 seconds remaining.

Barry, who led the scoring with 38, then drove for a field goal that proved decisive.

Softball Meet Is Slated For Junior Teams

The Escanaba Softball Assn. laid preliminary plans for the coming season at a meeting of the officers and board of directors Thursday night.

A meeting for junior softball teams was set for Wednesday, April 12, at 7:30 p. m. at Club 314. Clarence Kenas, association president, asked that two members from each junior team, in addition to managers, attend the session. Anyone interested in coaching and managing the junior teams is also urged to attend.

The association approved a bid for an Upper Peninsula tournament for Escanaba this year.

Sawchuk Back With Detroit?

TORONTO (AP) — Terry Sawchuk, the only goaltender in the National Hockey League to record 100 shutouts, says he will not play for the Toronto Maple Leafs next season.

Sawchuk, 37, who wants to live with his family in Union Lake, Mich., near Detroit, said Thursday that if a deal can be arranged, he would like to play for the Detroit Red Wings, the team he broke in with in 1949.

Duke Defeats Spartan Nine

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The lead see-sawed in the seventh and final inning, but Duke University gained a 4-3 baseball victory over Michigan State Thursday.

Harry Kendrick belted a single, and Tom Hummel and John Walters added hits to drive in two runs and give the Spartans the lead.

But Duke added two in the bottom on a passed ball and a hit by Randy Blanchard for the victory.

The Spartans, now 6-5-1 for the spring season, face Duke again Friday at Miami.

Richey, Reissen Score Victories

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., defeated Premjit Lajal of India 6-3, 8-3 and Marty Reissen of Evanston, Ill., beat Luis Garcia of Mexico 6-2, 7-5 Thursday as they advanced to the semi-finals of the Mexican International Tennis Tournament.

Rounding out the first team were Bill Zhulkie of Ishpeming, Steve Andrews of Marquette, Mike McNally of Munising and John Christie of Sault Ste. Marie.

Zhulkie, a tireless 5 foot 10 inch workhorse for the conference champions, was the top scorer in the Great Lakes loop with 424 points.

Andrews of Marquette, a 6 footer, was the runnerup in the conference scoring race with 360 points, topping Sample's output by seven. McNally, a 5-10 hustler for Coach Dave Ghiardi at Munising, tossed in 332 points and Christie, standing 6-2, hit 298 for Coach Crane Biberstine's Blue Devils.

Tipton Sets Track Goals

PONTIAC (AP) — Bill Tipton, Michigan's high school hurdles champion of 1966, has set two goals for this track season.

His first is to break all hurdles records of his Pontiac Central predecessor of 10 years ago, Hayes Jones, a gold medal winner in the 1964 Olympics.

The other goal is to emulate Jones in the Olympics, except that he would like to do it in 1968 at the age of 18.

Jones was 24 when he won in Rome.

Tipton is 17 and a senior at Pontiac Central. He has wiped out most of Jones's records at the school, in the state and at various meets around the country.

Tipton also is giving serious thoughts about where he will go to college. With the help of his track coach Dean Wilson, he has been sorting through dozens of college feelers.

Wilson, who helped in the tutoring of Jones, says Tipton faces almost the same problem as the former Olympic champion.

"Bill is small like Hayes was in high school, and doesn't have the dash man's speed like Hayes has. But as his timing develops at the bar, he will have all the assets needed to surpass all of Jones' marks," said Wilson.

Tipton started in 1967 on a fast note when he competed in the Michigan indoor relays at Ann Arbor. He defeated the 1966 NCAA indoor champion, Gerry Cerulla, by stepping over the 65-yard high hurdles in 8.1 seconds. This was in January.

A week ago, in the Huron Relays at Eastern Michigan University, he equalled the 65-yard high hurdles time of 7.8, set by another Olympic ace, Rex Cawley of Farmington.

In 1966, as a high school junior, he received Scholastic All-America honors after winning the National Junior Hurdles Championship defeating every prep he faced during the year.

He did lose a couple of times, but those were split-second losses to college opponents in independent track meets.

"He went 13.8 at Denver last summer, and on a good day and under good track conditions there is a chance of his hitting 13.6 before he leaves Pontiac Central in June," said Wilson.

This weekend, he will be in the Lansing relays. After this, every meet he runs in he will be defending many of the 1966 prep titles.

Famed Jim Ryun To Lend Talents To Relay Teams Seeking Records

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Jim Ryun, already a legend of track although only a sophomore at Kansas, anchors the first of three relay teams aiming at world records in opening the massive Texas Relays today.

Ryun will not run in the mile, where he holds the world's record of 3:51.3, but will be seen on the sprint medley relay team today and on the two-mile and four-mile baton units Saturday.

His first effort is expected to produce a world mark because he will be doing the half-mile stint in the spring medley. If he can approach his best time of 1:44.9 in the 880, there is little doubt that Kansas will crumble the world standard of 3:15.8.

There will be another world record holder in action today as Randy Matson, the Texas Aggie giant who holds the record of 70 feet 7¼ inches in the shot put, tests a hand that kept him out of competition in this event for two weeks.

Matson had reached 68-8 this season, then sprained his hand. Although he has fully recovered, he is not expected to be up to form because of the lack of practice.

He has been throwing the discus despite the sprained hand and hitting 200 feet.

Matson has been working on the weights and is stronger at 262 pounds than ever before," said Texas A&M coach Charley Thomas. "He also has been doing a lot of running and says he is faster going across the ring."

So Matson might give the world record of 213 feet 11½ inches a whirl although few expect him to make it.

Ryun and Matson are the big names of the Texas Relays opening sessions that have a raft of preliminaries during the day and 9 finals tonight. The four-division track and field meet ends Saturday afternoon with 24 finals.

Possibly a dozen and a half Texas Relays records are in the offing but it is world records that intrigue the crowd, especially with the likes of Ryun, Matson and Ralph Boston, the record-holder in the broad jump.

Boston appears in a special event Saturday and will be but one of five fellows who have leaped over 26 feet this year. His world's record is 27 feet 4¾ inches.

The Texas Relays' long anticipated four-minute mile might become a reality Saturday despite the absence of Ryun from his favorite event. Richard Romo, former Texas star, is going after it and he has done 3:58.8. The record for the mile here is 4:00.5, set in 1965 by Wes Santee of Kansas.

In Memoriam

Brandt

In memory of our husband and brother, Alfred Brandt, who passed away one year ago, March 31, 1966.

He bid no one a last farewell
He said goodbye to none.
His loving heart ceased to beat
Before we knew it, he was gone.
Everyday we sadly miss him
Deeply we feel our loss
Lonely we are without him
Help us, God, to bear our cross.

Sadly Missed by Wife, Esther Sisters, Brother & Families

WHO GOES HERE? That's the question that officials at the Arlington National Cemetery have to answer. It is estimated that Arlington will be out of burial space in about nine months.

Space: An Issue At Arlington

By DAVE BURGIN

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There is no reason, both sides say, why there should be an issue over burial space for veterans in Arlington National Cemetery.

But both sides — veterans groups and the Department of Defense — know well that even the smallest of matters here can explode into banner headlines.

It is estimated that Arlington will be out of burial space in about nine months. Then, presumably, its gates will close forever as a burial place.

It isn't geographical limitation which bothers groups like the VFW. It is rather the Defense Department's "arbitrary administration" of Arlington and a "reluctance by Congress to look into the matter, which is congressional jurisdiction in the first place."

★ ★ ★

Recently, the department decreed that Arlington, as long as burial space remained, could receive and bury only Medal of Honor winners, men on active duty (Vietnam), retired veterans and veterans in high government positions (Congress, federal courts, policy-making executives, etc.).

"That's discriminatory and autocratic," says VFW legislative director Frank Stover. "What about the guy who slogged through Europe 50 years ago in mud just as irksome, facing bullets just as lethal?

"Our argument is that, for whatever space the cemetery has left before it runs out, the family of any average veteran has just as much right to the honor of Arlington as any of those in the four categories Defense now favors."

"The VFW believes," said VFW Commander-in-Chief Leslie M. Fry, "that in death there is no rank."

★ ★ ★

Pentagon offices which deal with national cemeteries decline comment, other than to say the decision to restrict remaining burials at Arlington to the four categories was made to defer its closing as long as possible.

"The Defense decision violates the intent of Congress," Fry charges. "No office anywhere in the Pentagon has the right by law to decide what groups of veterans should be buried where and for what reasons. Whether Arlington is open for one more month or nine, it should be open to any veteran."

The VFW has gone before the House Committee on Veterans Affairs to argue its case. Fry asked the committee to have the Arlington order rescinded, either that or create other 'little Arlingtons" nearby, such as on unused federal ground around Manassas battlefield in Virginia or near Ft. Meade in Maryland.

★ ★ ★

There are two reasons why neither the VFW nor the Defense Department wants the squabble to become national. Debate over what to do with a dead soldier makes any intent to honor him look silly, something which anti-Vietnam war legions could dramatize.

Second, debate brings up the broader cemetery-burial picture. It has been proposed that crematories supplant national cemeteries, saving money and space. This is a problem similar in scope to the thorny question of birth control in the population explosion.

"Sure," said the VFW's Stover, "and cremation could make it easier for all veterans of all wars to receive proper and equal final rites, but can the government or the VFW or anyone else tell a family to have a son, husband or father cremated? Some religions and sects do not believe in it."

★ ★ ★

Request for burial at Arlington increased markedly after the burial of President Kennedy, said John Metzler, the cemetery superintendent who buried him.

"People saw on television the honor of being buried there," Stover said. "It may sound morbid, but the fact remains some families look at the prestige. Or they may simply feel the man who survived Normandy or Iwo Jima deserves as much honor as a man who dies in Vietnam."

Winter Worst On Road Funds

LANSING (AP) — The winter just ended was Michigan's worst in modern times in terms of highway salt usage and maintenance cost, the State Highway Department said today.

State Highway Director Howard Hill said use of salt and calcium chloride to keep highways free of ice and snow hit an all-time record as did cost, requiring a $2.5 deficiency appropriation.

An estimated 297,612 tons of salt and 5,617 tons of calsium chloride were spread on the state's 9,210 miles of highway to keep them free of ice, Hill said.

This compares with the previous high of 243,882 tons of salt and 6,103 tons of calcium chloride used in 1964-65.

Hill said $10.8 million was needed for highway maintenance last winter, compared with a total of $10.7 million in 1964-65.

The department had budgeted $7.5 for winter maintenance last spring, but a record January snow storm in the Lower Peninsula sent costs up to $8.9 million, Hill said.

The department is seeking legislative approval of a $2.5 million deficiency appropriation and is transferring $700,000 from other accounts to make up the difference between the sum budgeted and the sum needed, Hill said.

The department said total snowfall reports for different sectors of the state have not yet been compiled by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

However, a department spot check indicated Lansing recorded a total snowfall through March 29 to 81.5 inches compared with 63.2 inches in 1964-65.

Medic Student To Work Here

Paul D. Espy, a medical student, will complete his second year at Tulane University Medical School, New Orleans in June and join the staff of Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital in a capacity of clinical clerkship. He will be accompanied by his wife, a teacher, and will be on the staff of the hospital until late August, when both will return to their duties in New Orleans.

Espy's employment here is the initial step in a long term, yearly, local summer program whereby one medical student will be invited to join the hospital staff. Its objective is to interest young men or women in Michigan's Upper Peninsula as a field for active practice upon completion of their medical studies.

Gogebic Board Reduced To 15

BESSEMER (AP) — The Gogebic County Board of Supervisors has adopted an apportionment plan reducing the board membership from 23 to 15 members. The board acted under a new state law requiring apportionment on a population basis. The new board will give Ironwood six members, Bessemer two, Wakefield two, Bessemer and Wakefield Townships combined two, Ironwood and Erwin Townships two, and Marenisco and Watersmeet Townships, one each.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital were Shirley Anderson, Leo Thomas, Francis Hoholik, Geneva Koboski, Jean Nadeau, Noreen Mercier, Miriam Orhanen and James Chambers.

Discharged were Frank Chase, Kevin Vanatta, Cathy Baker, Donald Smith, Dean Nelson, Judy McGahan, William Hentschell and Barbara Miller.

Joy Middaugh March Bride

Joy Ann Middaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Middaugh, Cooks, and Lawrence Russell DeRousha, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond DeRousha, Manistique, were united in marriage in a 2 p. m. ceremony in the Congregational Church March 25. The Rev.. Philip Melli officiated at the double ring ceremony.

JoAnn Thelander was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Linda and Phyllis Middaugh. William DeRousha was best man and Robert DeRousha and Keith Middaugh were groomsmen. David Peterson and Joe McLear ushered. Mary Ann Middaugh was flower girl and Alfred Burns Jr. was ring bearer.

The bride wore a white floor-length gown of silk organiza fashioned with chantilly lace and a tiered flounce bouffant skirt. The gown was accented with a sabrina neckline, long tapered sleeves and a lace trimmed chapel train. A crown of pearls held her elbow length veil.

The bride's flowers were a bouquet of yellow roses and a white orchid carried on a white Bible. Yellow roses on white Bibles made up the bridal attendants' bouquets.

The bridesmaids and flower girl wore satin brocade blue floor length gowns.

The bride's mother selected a mint green 2-piece suit with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. DeRousha wore a dress of light blue and yellow with yellow and white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The reception was held at Cooks Town Hall.

Marietta was the first settlement in Ohio to survive and become a permanent city.

Early Trout Season Starts

The early rainbow season beginning April 1 will provide fishing on four streams in the Conservation Department's fourth district.

The streams are the Big Two Hearted from Reed & Green bridge to the mouth, the Sucker River, from the sea lamprey weir down to Lake Superior, the Carp River from Platz Lake Creek to Lake Huron, and the Pine River. The Great Lakes also will be open.

Good perch catches are being made in Hulbert Lake, fair to good catches in Les Cheneaux Channels and a few from Big Manistique, Whitefish, Millecoquin and Indian Lake. The latter has water on the ice now. Some large perch are being taken on Munuscong Bay of the Lower St. Mary's River.

Light cisco catches are being made off Sprang's Point, some menominees were taken in West Bay at Grand Marais. Herring catches are fair near Round Island in the Upper St. Mary's. Good rock bass catches can be made at Hulbert Lake just before dark.

Fair lake trout catches can be made "bobbing" in Munuscong Bay. Up to 11 were taken by one fisherman, the largest a 5-pounder. Several smaller lake trout, in the 2-3 pound class were taken in lower Whitefish Bay using cut smelt for bait.
